

Premiers, Advisers in Historic Picture

THORNY PROBLEM of formulating a new tax-sharing plan between the federal and provincial governments has been occupying these 175 delegates from 10 provinces attending the dominion-provincial tax conference in Ottawa this week. Provincial premiers, who lead each delegation are shown in front. From left to right are: E. C. Manning, Alta.; D. Campbell, Man.; H. D. Hicks, N.S.; J.

Flemming, N.B.; L. M. Frost, Ont.; Prime Minister St. Laurent; M. Duplessis, Que.; W. A. C. Bennett, B.C.; A. W. Matheson, P.E.I.; T. C. Douglas, Sask.; and J. R. Smallwood, Newfoundland. Directly behind Premier Frost can be seen Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Einar Gunderson, economic adviser to the B.C. government. (Toronto Star News Service photo.)

Commonwealth Parley Next Year

LONDON (Reuters) — Commonwealth prime ministers have agreed to meet here about mid-summer next year, it was announced by Prime Minister Eden tonight.

Eden said his government "greatly welcome the opportunity of a further personal exchange of views on the international situation."

Countries at the conference will be Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

The meeting — seventh such prime ministers' conference since the Second World War — will probably be held around June.

This would follow the projected visit here in the spring of Soviet Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, Russian Communist party secretary, who were invited by Eden during the recent Geneva Big Four talks.

The Commonwealth ministers last met in February of this year. There are no regularly scheduled conferences, but Eden has hinted that he wants closer and more direct contacts with commonwealth nations in the future.

Tentative plans are to hold meetings of the Commonwealth prime ministers annually or every 18 months. But it was understood no final agreement has been reached on this point.

TIMES EDITOR CBUT GUEST

Bruce Hutchison, editor of The Times, will be special guest on the popular CBUT television show, "Almanac," tonight at 7 p.m. over Channel 2. Mr. Hutchison will be interviewed about his new book, "The Struggle for the Border." He is in Vancouver to attend an autographing party for the book.

Tax Talks 'Fiasco' Says B.C.'s Bennett

OTTAWA—Premier W. A. C. Bennett described the federal-provincial conference as a "fiasco" as he prepared to leave the capital this afternoon by air at the conclusion of the three-day fiscal meetings. "Nothing has been accomplished that couldn't have been done by letter or by sending down a clerk," he told reporters.

Special to The Times
OTTAWA — Provincial pre-

miers and their platoons of advisers, will begin returning home tonight to make up their minds on the federal government's taxation suggestions.

As the conference begins its final formal sitting this afternoon it was apparent no firm agreements had been reached.

The afternoon sitting was to be confined to preparation of a formal statement on the four-day conference.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said after this morning's meeting that a second conference on federal-provincial financial arrangements may or may not be held before the expiration of the existing tax rental agreements in 1957.

Mr. St. Laurent said the provincial governments are to consider suggestions—"not offers"—put before them by the federal government.

"They were told," he said, "that if they wanted signed agreements, it is up to them. I said that the advantage of a contractual matter is that the contract will be carried out."

"If they prefer to rely on the prospect of a substantial increase in economic activity, they will be taking a calculated risk. Each will have to make his own decision."

The federal government this week suggested an alternative to the tax rental agreements whereby provinces would get back into the direct tax fields with the less-wealthy ones receiving equalization payments from the federal treasury.

SAYS CAN'T ANSWER

Asked whether there had been approval of the federal suggestion, Mr. St. Laurent said: "I can't say there was approval or disapproval."

Mr. St. Laurent told reporters he had made no basic change in the federal government's suggested alternate formula as originally laid before the conference.

It was clear today that the federal government was not accepting proposals, such as that of B.C.'s Premier Bennett, that the provinces should have a larger cut from federal revenue. (Continued on Page 25)

64 Killed As Airliner Hits U.S. Peak

IKE 'EXCELLENT' BUT—BUBBLEGUM?

DENVER (AP)—A gift package from his grandchildren—heavy on bubble-gum—proved a fine tonic for President Eisenhower on Wednesday.

The president, who put in an "excellent night," had a happy time digging into the package.

This was what the chuckling president found:

From Susan, three, two packs of playing cards and—bubble-gum.

From Barbara Anne, six, stationery and—bubble-gum.

From David, seven, a 25-cent Texas border story, "The Mackenzie Raid," and—bubble-gum.

The youngsters, children of Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, personally picked out the gifts.

Explosion Rips Wreck In Rockies

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UP)—A United Air Lines DC-4 air coach, a little west of its course, crashed into 12,005-foot Medicine Bow peak today and blew up. An air force major said all 64 persons aboard were killed in history's worst U.S. civil aviation disaster.

The worst previous crash was of a northwest Air Lines DC-4 into Lake Michigan, Jan. 24, 1954, in which 58 persons were killed.

There were 61 passengers and three crew members aboard the United Air Lines plane that crashed today, en route from New York to San Francisco.

The wreckage was discovered by Lt.-Col. E. R. Weed of the Wyoming Air National Guard, flying an F-80 jet fighter plane.

There was no indication yet of what caused the plane to stray off its course and hit the peak. It may have been the awful air turbulence in the mountains. The air was still so rough after the wreckage was found that the air force ordered military planes out of the area.

The flight—Aircocraft Flight 409—left New York's Idlewild airport early Wednesday evening. Its destination was San Francisco, with stops in between at major cities.

Names of the passengers have not yet been released by United Air Lines.

Crisis Crumbles French Cabinet

'You Quit Or We Do' Faure Told By Pinay After Gaullists Ousted

PARIS (AP)—Four Independent Republican ministers—including Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay—this afternoon went to see Premier Edgar Faure with the intention of getting Faure to resign or submit their own resignations.

Earlier in the day four ministers from the Social Republican party had submitted their resignations at Faure's request.

In the face of the first defections from the government Faure went ahead with plans for a debate in the National Assembly on Moroccan problems. The debate was scheduled to open tonight.

The independents were reported to have two demands to make to Faure. The first was that the premier should ask for postponement of the debate. If he refused to do this, the ministers were going to suggest that Faure resign.

If this was refused, then the ministers were prepared to submit their own resignations.

In the party of Independent ministers were Pinay; Roger Ducloux, minister of reconstruction; Paul Antier, minister of the merchant marine; and Jean Sourbet, minister of agriculture.

SUCCESS DOUBTFUL

Faure apparently felt that he had enough strength to face the debate without the four Gaullists who resigned. It was extremely doubtful, however, whether he could weather another wave of resignations.

A fifth minister from the Gaullist Social Republican party, Public Works Minister Edward Cornillon-Molinier, remained in the cabinet. Gen. Pierre Koenig, the defense minister, led the dissidents Faure kicked out.

It is expected that tonight's debate will go on non-stop until Faure wins a vote of confidence or is thrown out.

His chances of surviving as head of the government appear relatively thin, since the withdrawal of the Gaullist votes from the assembly would leave him with a minority.

Besides Koenig, the ministers ousted from the cabinet were Raymond Triboulet, veterans affairs minister; Gaston Palewski, minister with special powers delegated by the premier; and Maurice Bayrou, secretary of state in the ministry for overseas territories.

Returned to trouble
Faure ran smack into a hornet's nest of political troubles on his return during the night from his meeting in Luxembourg with West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer. They had got together to try to save the chances of getting a favorable vote in the Saar Oct. 23 on the proposed "Europeanization" statute.

The cabinet meeting this morning had to sort out the ticklish problem of what to do about replacing Morocco's Sultan Ben Moulay Arafat, who was eased out of office to a retirement in Tangier. Before leaving, however, the sultan delegated his powers to a cousin.

The question now is whether the government can go ahead with its plan for a three-man regency council, or whether the sultan has blocked such a move by his delegation of powers.

The de Gaulle ministers who left Faure's cabinet claimed there was no possibility of setting up the three-man council of the throne.

CHEST DRIVE SLOWS 'IP AT $32

The Community Chest drive has slowed down. At noon today funds realized for the 17 agencies subsidized by the appeal for $210,000 stood at $32,066.74, up a little more than $4,000 since Wednesday.

The total has been jumping about $10,000 daily since it started Monday.

However, compared to last year's figure for the same period, $17,940, the Red Feather campaign is well ahead.

Funds are coming this week from business and industry. Next week the residential canvass opens.

Carpenters' 30-Hr. Week 'All Wet'

Reports that the Pentecost convention of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (AFL-TLC) on Wednesday voted to demand a 30-hour week were called "all wet" today by Jack Mobley, newly-elected vice-president.

He told The Times from Kamloops: "We're making no demands at present. There is nothing new about discussions on the 30-hour week; that has been a long range objective of international labor since before the war. But we realize it is still long in the future."

He said wages and working conditions were discussed, but actual suggested wage structure would be drawn up at the convention next year.

Immediate objective of organized labor in B.C. should be the introduction of a "stamp book" system governing holiday pay similar to that in effect in Ontario, the convention decided.

Churchill Kin Howled in Cells

LONDON (Reuters)—Artist John Spencer Churchill, 50, brother-in-law of Sir Anthony Eden, "howled like a dog" in his jail cell and his wife made "mew" noises after they were arrested on drunk and disorderly charges, a court was told today.

They were appearing at a preliminary hearing and their bail was renewed for another hearing Oct. 28. Both pleaded not guilty.

Churchill is the nephew of Sir Winston Churchill. His sister is Clara Eden, wife of the prime minister.

The prosecution said the trouble occurred on the night of Sept. 7 in Adm and Eve mews, West London, where the artist and his wife, also an artist, live. Opposite their home is a Congregational church.

The prosecutor said this is what happened:

Anti-Inflation Curbs Loom for Britain

'Severe New Steps' Planned By Butler To 'Find Salvation Through Sacrifice'

BOURNEMOUTH, England (CP)—The chancellor of the exchequer gave further warning today that he intends to take severe new steps to stem inflation in Britain.

"I shall take whatever action I think right—whatever criticism may be levelled against me," R. A. Butler told 4,000 members of the Conservative party at the opening of its annual conference.

Saying he proposes to continue the "credit squeeze" by which he has made it more difficult to borrow money, Butler added:

"My theme must be that it will be through service and sacrifice that we shall find salvation. We now need more discipline so that we send more of the fruits of expansion abroad in exports."

The conference's first resolution called for a "bolder and more imaginative" government policy of strengthening economic ties within the Commonwealth.

CANADA OPPORTUNITIES
Delegate Michael Richardson said there is unlimited opportunity for development in Canada. Until a few years ago, he noted, Britain was the prime investor there but since 1939 there had been a decline of 50 per cent, and the United States now was the prime foreign investment producer.

Approximately one-third of all investment in Canada today is in companies controlled by the U.S.

Colonial secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd added:
"As for the dominions, I share the view about the need to increase our constitutional and economic ties and never, despite occasional differences of view which are very often caused by regional circumstances, has there been greater unity of purpose between the dominions and ourselves than there is today in foreign affairs, in defence or in the readiness of Commonwealth governments to direct their economic policies to the benefit of the common cause."

The resolution was carried unanimously.

FIRM ACTION NEEDED

With Britain struggling to reduce the wide gap between what she is paying for imports and gaining in exports, Butler's speech was regarded as the highlight of a three-day conference.

"We are not acting, or intending to act, through panic or in a crisis mentality," he said. "I do not think that is necessary—but I do think it is necessary to take firm action."

"I ask for authority to use any method which I may consider necessary to restore the situation."

The Conservative government had abolished physical controls, rationing and restrictions—and would not go back to them.

"I did not know the horse would be so excitable when it saw the oats of freedom for the first time. I have to hold the horse back a bit."

Butler said there must be restraint in wages and the distribution of profits and declared he would hold back sharply on new government building. Agricultural subsidies must be "continually examined."

Atomic Power Contracts Let

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (BUP)—Two major atomic energy construction contracts have been awarded to two private firms, Canadair Ltd. of Montreal, and Canadian Westinghouse.

The contracts were announced by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., the crown-owned agency handling all of Canada's nuclear research and development.

The Canadair contract calls for the design and a cost estimate of a "swimming pool" research type reactor, a low flux machine to be used at Chalk River for research. Cost of the reactor—Canada's fifth—is expected to range between $250,000 and $300,000.

Thomas Higgins, 918 Green, and Walter Cool, 1209 Yukon, were remanded without plea to next Thursday when they appeared in city police court today on liquor charges.

Higgins is charged with permitting a person apparently under 21 years of age to consume liquor, and Cool is charged with serving liquor to the same person.

contract covers the design of construction of "loop" testing equipment for the new NRU atomic reactor under construction at Chalk River.

Officials said the equipment, which is expected to cost about $200,000, will be used in addition to standard reactor equipment to test materials in the interior of the $40,000,000 high-power reactor.

Canadair moves into the nuclear field for the first time. Previously they concentrated on aircraft production and the development of guided missiles.

Insurance by Stages

THE FOUNDATION OF A future national health insurance plan apparently has been laid at the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa this week.

Mr. St. Laurent says his Government is ready to embark on this huge new public service provided it is supported by provinces containing a majority of the Canadian people. Since Ontario, British Columbia, Saskatchewan and probably other provinces are demanding health insurance, the desired majority should soon be available.

But Mr. St. Laurent wisely intends to undertake health insurance by stages and obviously he is influenced by the British Columbia hospital insurance scheme. Some plan by which hospitalization, the major cost of illness now-a-days, will be insured must precede a wider coverage. The provinces, not the Federal Government, would administer these services. Every province participating in the scheme on an agreed basis would receive assistance from the national treasury.

The cost of Mr. St. Laurent's policy cannot possibly be estimated since its scope has not been fixed, but it will be substantial. We know in British Columbia what hospital insurance costs. If these costs are extended over the whole nation, or a good part of it, Canadians as a whole, like British Columbians, must pay more taxes in one form or another.

In British Columbia, however, the federal policy would result in a reduction of provincial costs. At the moment we pay all the cost of hospital insurance here under a purely provincial scheme. If Ottawa takes over some part of the cost—presumably half—then the provincial treasury will be relieved of cost to that amount.

We need not suppose, however, that this will represent any real saving to the taxpayers of British Columbia. Through federal taxes they will have to pay their share of the Federal Government's contribution to hospital insurance here and elsewhere. Whether the cost be borne through provincial or federal treasuries it must fall on the same taxpayer in the end.

If Ottawa finally contributes half the cost of hospital insurance, as the first stage in a larger scheme, the taxpayers of British Columbia will have the right to expect an equivalent reduction in present provincial taxes. Is the Bennett Government prepared to make that reduction or will it use the new federal grants to increase its own expenditures?

Mr. Frost's modest stage-by-stage health insurance scheme evidently would not provide at the start anything like the hospital insurance now in effect here. He would first offer diagnostic services, then what is called a "home-care" plan to reduce the cost of hospital treatment, assistance in meeting "extraordinary" hospital costs and free hospital treatment for indigents.

Mr. Frost would not finance this scheme by a sales tax like that enforced here. He would deduct every family's contribution from the earner's pay cheque. As British Columbia has found, this arrangement, though undoubtedly fair, is unpopular and politically difficult.

It is premature, however, to speculate on the details of any national health insurance scheme when obviously the Federal and provincial Governments are still far from agreement on this problem, as on the general tax problem underlying it.

More study and public education will be required before the rest of Canada approaches British Columbia's insurance standard. After that, as Mr. St. Laurent intimates, it will be time enough to consider a complete plan covering medical as well as hospital costs. It seems safe to say that the nation is still a long way from that objective.

Dangerous Salesmanship

EGYPT'S RECENT PURCHASE of arms from behind the Iron Curtain has had repercussions all around the globe. Britain and the United States have issued sharp notes to the Government at Cairo, warning that an arms race in the Middle East will have serious results. Mr. Dulles has told Soviet Russia bluntly that delivery of arms to Egypt will not contribute to relaxation of world tensions.

A build-up of Egyptian armaments, from whatever source, will seriously affect the already bad relations between the Nile republic and Israel. The tensions and border conflicts now existing between the two countries pose a formidable obstacle to Middle Eastern peace. This can only be increased by an Egyptian armament program.

But the effects will be more far-reaching than the mere shipment of weapons. With such a vendor-customer relationship must go closer co-operation. There will be the influx of Red experts to instruct in the use of the new arms. There will be the dependence of Egypt on communist sources for parts and replacements. There will be the likelihood of commercial concessions and deals designed to tighten the Moscow-Cairo contact and weaken Egypt's ties with the west. There will be, too, the wider implications of Soviet gestures toward the Arab world.

Tears and Idle Onions

WHEN ONION GROWERS OF New York state lost their crops to hurricanes Connie and Diane, Mr. Bruce Bradley, onion grower of Painscourt, Ont., suggested that his Canadian colleagues offer the storm victims the proceeds from six carloads of the Canadian produce if they could be shipped into the United States and sold duty-free.

The gesture appeared to be a generous effort by Canadian farmers to help their American opposite numbers in the latter's time of trial. But U.S. authorities say they cannot waive the one-and-three-quarters cents a pound duty on Canadian onions crossing the border for sale. A humanitarian gesture has been hog-tied by tariff red tape and expressions of deep regret have come from White House spokesmen.

It is to be hoped that high-tariff advocates are not joining in the display of public disappointment. Tears from them could lead only to the belief that some of the onions did, in fact, get through and were concealed in the handkerchiefs of any protectionists who wept.

Nest Egg But No Nest

DISCOVERY OF A $30-MILLION cache in gold and currency, to say nothing of other treasure trove, marked the passage of Argentina's dictator Juan Peron.

As he flew from Buenos Aires harbor into exile he no doubt had a tear in his eye for the loss of his loot. It took him a full ten years to amass that $30 million. What burning of the midnight oil, what skulduggery, what treachery had been necessary to earn this pile, only Juan Peron himself can know.

But whatever the cost in effort, Juan was a great success as a political surgeon. He separated the filthy lucre cleanly from the body politic, so gently that the body didn't even know. Unfortunately, this was one of those rare cases where the operation was a complete success but the doctor died—politically, of course. As for the desamassados, the shirtless ones, for whom Juan so often expressed his regard and sympathy—they will be slow, perhaps, to believe such tales in the future.

Just think, they must be saying today; all the while he was stuffing us with how sorry he was for our poverty, and stuffing us with his great plans to cure the economic troubles of the country, and stuffing us with promises of a better life—all the while, he was stuffing his strong rooms with gold and American dollars.

The shirtless ones will ponder this. And if they have long memories it may be some time before dictatorship in Argentina is as comfortable a job as Juan Peron seemed to find it.

Revised Little Red Riding Hood

As Our Readers See It

WHAT ARE WE DOING?

May one ask, what is Canada doing about the terrible and devastating floods and hurricanes in other countries?

Little or nothing is now heard about the cataclysm in Pakistan and India, where, it was earlier reported, as many as 45 million people were made homeless by floods.

Surely, in our prosperity and comparative immunity from such calamities, we should do something very substantial to help. How about opening a fund?

TILL THAT THAR WORD IS SPOOLED

I am reading "Why Johnny Can't Read" and am inclined to agree with Dr. Flesch. This enjoyable series reminds me of Bret Harte's poem, "The Spelling Bee at Angels," even if it concerns frontiersmen rather than children.

It's a long poem, but you might like one verse describing what happened when these tough customers got to the last round:

Then certain gents arose and said "they'd business done in camp."

And 'ez the road was rather dark, and 'ez the night was damp,

They'd—here got up Three-fingered Jack and locked the door and yelled:

"No, no; one mother's son goes out till that thar word is spooled!"

But while the words were on his lips, he groaned and sank in pain.

And sat with Webster on his chest and Worcester on his brain.

HAPPY CAMP

Camp days are just over for 1955, but I do not think you would have found a happier group than the Old Age Pensioners at Sunshine Camp.

May I express sincere appreciation of everyone's kindness in making such a holiday possible for us.

ONE WHO ENJOYED IT.

IN TIME OF NEED

I wish to join Mr. Guppy and Mr. Abraham in their recent letters of appeal to Canadians that something be done to render assistance to the areas struck by floods and hurricanes.

Barbados, one of the West Indies islands in the Caribbean, has been shattered under the impact of hurricane "Janet." Thousands are homeless and sleep at night in churches, schools and other available buildings. An epidemic under these unsanitary conditions is feared.

Sugarcane crops have been ruined, and bleak desolation has taken the place of the beauty and charm this favored isle but a few days ago possessed.

The inhabitants are stunned at the conditions that confront them, as one from the island has written to a friend in Victoria.

The neighboring islands help to the limit of their means when disaster strikes one of their group, but it takes assistance from larger countries to really meet the demands.

A sympathetic interest in others in distress, and aid given to help them pull through a crisis, brings one under the great spiritual law—the "inasmuch," which carries its own reward.

SURPLUS FOOD STALL

Once again we are asking for donations for the Surplus Food Stall. Old age citizens, who are managing to exist on the small amount of pension they receive, deserted mothers and widows with small families, and others on welfare assistance on account of sickness, all look to us for help. So we in turn appeal to the citizens of Greater Victoria and district to send their surplus vegetables and fruit to us for distribution.

The response has always been good. Let us now make this Saturday a real bumper day for all those who so sadly need it.

Donations may be left at McMoran's Pavilion, at Cordova Bay, Graham's Grocery on the Pat Bay Highway near Elk Lake, or McNutt's Grocery on Wilkinson Road. People of Greater Victoria should contact Mrs. E. E. Harper of 310 Vincent Street, Phone 3-9874, who will arrange for the donation to be picked up. Money donations should be sent to Mrs. Harper.

PASTOR'S PAY

I could not help noting the item on page 5 of Oct. 1 in your valuable paper captioned: "Bishop Beattie Hits Salaries," wondering whether I should contribute one Anglican layman's views and finally decided to do so as some features should be introduced.

I would like to mention a prayer used in January, 1951, by a Presbyterian minister as a member of the Vancouver Ministerial Association. It follows:

"Teach us, good Lord, to serve Thee as Thou deservest, to give and not to count the cost, to fight and not to seek the wounds, to toil and not to seek for rest, to labor and not to ask any reward, save that of knowing that we are doing Thy will, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

The stipends paid may have been quite in order or appropriate when they were first established.

No mention is ever made of the emoluments attached to christenings, weddings or funerals, which could amount to considerable in some cases.

A further fact is that the clergy are not taxpayers, this having to be met by the laity who are already taxpayers.

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Centre and Perimeter

THIS is written in advance, deliberately, before the results of the current federal-provincial conference are known. For once they are known—or rather when the public understanding is completely bemused by a mass of formulae and statistics—we shall probably lose the forest in the trees.

Months will be required to put a process so massive and complex in perspective.

What we have been observing in Ottawa recently is not, as one might suppose, some sudden aberration in the life of the nation, some brilliant new discovery by the brain trust or some brand new invention by Mr. Duplessis, Mr. Frost or even Mr. Bennett.

The thing is essentially as old as Canada and quite inevitable in any federal system covering a nation of our size and diversity.

WE are witnessing, in short, the struggle of the perimeter against the centre; of the provinces against the central government; of sectional against national interest.

It takes the form at the moment; of a dispute about taxes. It has taken many different forms before now and doubtless will take many more in the future. We may be sure that, in one form or another, the struggle will go on so long as we are a nation with eleven sovereign governments and millions of people living far from one another.

THERE appears to be a kind of established rhythm and regular fluctuation in this struggle and, at the moment, we seem to be mounting what might be called the provincial cycle.

In both the great wars of our time power was tightly concentrated, of necessity, in the national government. After the first war—the provinces rebelled against this concentration and regained much of their power. After the second war the reaction was delayed for various reasons but it has set in lately, at least on the surface.

The provinces, or many of them, are jealous of the central power—Quebec violently jealous, the other provinces are more moderate in their demands but still determined to maintain their rights.

MACKENZIE KING went all through this process at a time when the nation was riven deep by disunity after the first war and again in the great depression. Macdonald almost despaired of holding a new, untied nation together in the provincial revolt of the eighties.

Happily the present version is not so dangerous or so deep because the nineteenth-century gristle of Canada has hardened into the bone of the twentieth and no one is talking any more of liquidating Confederation.

Still, the real art of statecraft in Ottawa remains what it has always been—the reconciliation of the yawning differences and ceaseless clashes between the diverse interests of a sprawling state.

All that is obvious and I apologize for mentioning it to the erudite reader. Something else, however, is not so obvious and may have even escaped the reader's attention.

TOO much power, many of the provinces think, is concentrated in Ottawa and some of it—as represented by tax fields—must be returned to its proper owners. Yes, but all the provinces without exception are asking the Federal Government to undertake more and more responsibility and, in most cases, to spend more and more money.

Mr. Duplessis may say that he is asking no such thing, that he can get along fine by himself if the national Government will only stop invading his autonomy.

But even Mr. Duplessis needs a prosperous nation. The whole vast industrial complex of Quebec (no longer a province of peasants except in the tourist booklets) is dependent upon national prosperity. And who is to produce, maintain and regulate this prosperity? No one but the Government of Canada.

ALL the people of the nation—the provincial governments, business men, labor unions and nameless citizens—look to the national government to make us healthy, wealthy and wise. It follows by the laws of mathematics, by the law of gravity itself and by the laws of politics, that the growing responsibility assumed by the Federal Government must be supported by equivalent power.

On the surface, and for a time, power may flow out of Ottawa, or seem to flow. Beneath the surface power is steadily flowing the other way, not only in Canada but in all countries, because that happens to be the kind of era we live in.

We are living in an era of increasing giantism—giantism of capital on the one side and labor on the other, an era of such gigantic economic and social movements, with so much at stake, that an increasing concentration of power is inevitable, however it may be disguised.

IT is said in the present tax dispute that the Federal Government is relaxing and diluting its power by making certain concessions to the provinces. Without going into detail, any student of these things can see that the distribution of taxes, changed in appearance and formula, is not being much changed in substance.

Even if it were, that would not contradict the centrifugal movement of power. For the supreme engine of economic power is no longer the tax system, important as it may be. It is, of course, the banking and money system with headquarters on Wellington Street, Ottawa. That engine can never be anywhere else and on its throttle is no hand but the hand of the Government a few yards down the street.

Traitors, Roses and Corn

By STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

THERE was an inconclusive but rather fascinating little episode in the famous Bolshoi Theater in Moscow some months ago. An American lady who had known the British traitor, Donald Maclean, before he went over to the Soviets was having supper in the restaurant during the intermission of the opera. She glanced across the crowded restaurant and suddenly her eyes met Maclean's. They looked at each other for a long moment, and then the lady turned to her escort, to draw his attention. She looked back again almost immediately but Maclean—or was it his ghost?—had magically disappeared.

The episode is worth recalling if only because it was the first indication of what has now been confirmed as a solid, and significant, fact. The recent British White Paper on the case of Maclean and his fellow traitor, Guy Burgess, is undoubtedly based on hard intelligence. It has confirmed that Maclean and Burgess are indeed living in or near Moscow.

FOR THE SOPHISTICATED At the time of the incident at the opera, it was only suspected that this was so. It was also only suspected that the two men were playing some sort of role in the making of Soviet policy. Now this too has been confirmed, also by the White Paper, which states unequivocally that both men have been serving since their defection as "advisers to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and other Soviet agencies."

It is interesting to speculate on the kind of advice they may have given. Burgess is a fool. But Maclean is highly intelligent, however neurotic. Moreover, he knows this country well, having served here, and having also headed the American department in the British Foreign Office.

He is no doubt highly regarded by his Soviet masters—they went to great trouble to get him safely away when his treason was at last suspected. So it is reasonable to suppose that his advice is listened to with respect.

Let us, therefore, imagine that Maclean is addressing a gathering of influential Soviet policy makers. Might he not speak along somewhat the following lines?

IMAGINED ADVICE "Comrades, I submit that in the past our leadership has gravely underestimated the effect on the bourgeois mentality of trivialities and superficial appearances. Permit me to cite two examples.

"First, I propose that our Ambassador to Great Britain should develop a seemingly overpowering passion for roses. Such is the emotional attachment of vast numbers of the British bourgeois and lumpen-proletariat for these flowers that the Ambassador's roses will, I assure you, greatly stimulate the existing impulse in Britain to abandon the costly rearmament program.

"Second, I propose that a press campaign strongly praising corn be initiated here, in the United States, especially in the key Middle Western area, corn elicits much the same emotional response as do roses in Britain. There are numerous songs in praise of corn, widely sung in America, comparing its height, for example, to that of an elephant's eye.

"As soon as it can be arranged, a delegation should be sent to America ostensibly to learn the American method of growing corn. For the benefit of the American press photographers, members of the delegation should frequently pose regarding corn with evident admiration and even on occasion embracing a particularly vigorous stalk.

"Delegation members should also take every opportunity to achieve a sympathetic identification with such other American imperialist institutions as the game of golf and women with unnaturally long legs.

SERVING SOVIETS

"I assure you, Comrades, that such trivial gestures will have a profound effect upon the Western bourgeois mentality, greatly to our advantage. For the more sophisticated imperialists, more serious but no more costly gestures will also, of course, be required.

"I suggest as an initial program the negotiation of a peace treaty with Austria, the normalization of our relations with Yugoslavia anew and, perhaps, the evacuation of the Porkkala naval base, since this can be re-occupied at a moment's notice.

"Some such program will give us precisely the breathing space we need in order decisively to surpass American nuclear warfare capabilities, the only area in which the Western imperialists maintain a continued superiority."

The foregoing is not, of course, an entirely serious attempt to reconstruct the advice Maclean has given the Soviet Foreign Office. And although it is believed in knowledgeable quarters that Maclean's advice may genuinely have affected the Soviet foreign policy line, it is of course silly to suppose that Maclean alone is the author of recent changes in that line.

Yet the foregoing may at least serve to suggest some of the dangers to the West that may lurk in the new era of Soviet smiles. It is well to remember, at least, that one day the smiles may disappear as suddenly as did Donald Maclean, that night at the opera.

I find great joy in listening to the glorious song of a soaring skylark, but I cannot bear to listen to the moaning of a crooner on the radio. The breathtaking marvel of the lark's flight at mating time is far more thrilling than any aerobatics you may see at an RAF air pageant; whilst for sheer buffoonery a Jack Hare at his courting will easily beat any clowning you are likely to see at a circus. It may be that I am in a small minority in these opinions.

Working For Humanity

I SUPPOSE that one day soon a Red Feather canvasser will be knocking at our door. The money for her is sitting on the window-sill behind the kitchen clock.

I like to think that some of it will go to the Family and Children's Service, for, to my mind, this is a group that does wonderful work for humanity.

It grieves me, rather, that much of the work it does cannot be told to the general public. Even for the sake of whipping up funds, one cannot betray the private problems of people who, in desperation, have gone to this group for help.

When I think of the Family and Children's Service, I think first of the little boy I saw in the dentist's waiting room. He was a thin and rather peaky child, and his turn in the chamber of horrors was just ahead of ours.

"It's alright. I'll be here when you're finished," said the plump, kindly woman who was with him.

"I've never had him to the dentist before," she said to me when he was gone, "so I don't quite know how he'll behave. He's our foster son and he's only been with us a few weeks."

We began to talk after that, and I learned a little more about him. His parents were divorced, she said, and neither had seemed to want him. For several months he'd been allowed to run pretty wild, and they'd had a bit of a time with him at the start.

But he was settling down, she said. It was regular meals, she thought, and bed at the proper time, and knowing someone was in the house when he came home from school, and not being left alone at night.

Yes, she had two children of her own, she said when I asked her. But when you had two already, there was no great trick to looking after a third.

His medical and dental care were paid for, she told me. And when he needed clothes, she rang the social worker and was given a requisition slip.

You had to be careful, she said, because it was important that the child should have clothes like other children's, but she didn't want him to grow up expecting handouts.

I learned a lot of other practical details. They received a cheque every month for his board and keep. It covered the actual cost if she was careful, she said, but it didn't begin to pay for the extra time and thought and care.

But that didn't matter, she added quickly. What did matter, I gathered, was seeing a frightened, outwardly hardboiled child gradually being straightened out with proper parental care.

He hadn't slept well at first, she said. They'd had bedwetting and bad dreams in the night, and a certain amount of hostility and rudeness. But these difficulties were passing. He was putting on weight. He was beginning to trust them, and to know that there was a place where he was always welcome.

"It makes me feel kinda good," she said. These are the sort of people who work with the Family and Children's Service. They've been carefully screened by social workers. They've answered endless questions about health, and parentage, education, religion, and financial status. They don't always have an easy time, because it isn't easy to take an unknown child into one's home and alter the established family pattern.

Often, foster parents fail. Often, they succeed. Always, the Family and Children's Service is ready and willing to help them if the need arises.

It can't tell about its work. But the stories in its files are full of heartbreak and hope, of slow but steady progress, of abysmal failure.

Even to think about its work makes me feel "kinda good."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Train Cords and Border Customs

LONDON—I often had the temptation in a train to pull the communication cord, which is just human nature, I suppose. Pulling a communication cord and thus stopping a train comes outside the experience of all but a tiny minority of us and we are tempted to know what it would feel like. But the notice—Penalty for Improper Use $14—is always a strong enough deterrent, as far as I'm concerned, anyway.

However, I learn now that an airman, told by the ticket collector that his train was going to stop at Nottingham, pulled the cord when it didn't—and was fined only $2.80. At less than $3 to stop an express train in full flight, I'd say that's a bargain. I can see a boom in communication cord pulling at those prices. Train travelers all over the country are going to yield to that temptation to have a crack at it.

Those penalties displayed in public transport are no doubt merely what the transport authorities feel you'll get as a maximum fine. Which reminds me of the fellow in a London bus who looked up at the sign—No Spitting, Penalty $3.50—and said to the conductor: "How much will it cost me? I'm going to be sick."

CUSTOMS OFFICIALS CAN BE HARD-hearted chaps when they feel like it, which is usually. Take the example of the freighter Argobeam which got in distress in a storm in the Atlantic the other day and a salvage tug dashed out to do a rescue job. The grateful captain of the freighter, learning that the tug had come out from port in such a hurry to lend aid that it was short of supplies, distributed 1,000 cigarettes among its crew.

Reyburn

When the tug returned to port the customs people charged the crew $20 duty on the cigarettes!

But at least one customs man has been sufficiently soft to give away some of the secrets of how they nab women trying to get things through unnoticed. He says that women's tendency to display their emotions invariably gives them away. Apparently when a customs man goes through the list of queries on dutiable items women answer in a normal voice—until he mentions something they're sneaking into the country. Then the female voice goes up a tone.

When searching through women's luggage, the gals stand quite calmly—until he starts to get "warm." Then, says the customs man, they're sure either to twitch or shuffle the feet or fidget with the hands, or all three. Customs men know this and keep looking out of the corner of an eye for the give-away signs.

OLDEST TRICK OF SMALL-TIME FEMALE smugglers is to wrap a bottle of perfume or some such item in their undies. A customs man would be too embarrassed to look there! Not a bit of it. They know from experience that all women think that way and it's the first place they look.

My favorite true story about a woman at loggishheads with the customs concerns a girl I know who went from her home near Niagara Falls over to Buffalo for the day. She bought a bolt of material and smuggled it through the customs by hiding it up the back of her coat.

When she got into the bus to go home she was shocked to find the customs man, who had come off duty, seat himself beside her. She dared not get out at her nearby stop in case the material fell down from behind her coat. She had to travel all the way to Hamilton before he got out.

Chetwynd Tells Cattlemen To Improve Their Stock

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. cattlemen Wednesday defended the quality of their product after Trade Minister Ralph Chetwynd told an industry meeting the province must produce grain-fed cattle or go out of business in the face of prairie competition.

Julian Fry, secretary of the B.C. Cattle Growers' Association, said, "The prejudice against B.C. meat is the result of an advertising campaign which has gone beyond logic."

Ken Chown, Vancouver agent of the organization, said grass-fed beef is healthier than grain-fed. "We find our cattle have 100 per cent healthy livers. The grain-fed have up to 30 per cent bad livers. Surely that means something."

Mr. Chetwynd told producers, packers and retailers here Tuesday they must compete with a quality product from the prairies. "You've got to admit that most of your beef is a little soft and

Night Patrolmen Watch for Fire Bug

VANCOUVER (CP)—Guards appeared on residential streets here Wednesday night as nervous householders called in private night patrol companies following a fire that took four lives here Tuesday.

Police released a 34-year-old man Wednesday after holding him for questioning in connection with the blaze, which fire officers say was deliberately set.

The suspect told police he had been "on a binge" and a cabdriver corroborated his story that they had driven from town to the nearby West End district to watch the fire. It was the 47th suspected incendiary blaze this year.

Patrol companies reported many inquiries for night guards, particularly in the thickly-populated West End. Wardens continued their investigations of the ruins of a rooming house in which the four died.

Another rooming-house was gutted, a third badly damaged and partly-finished apartment block destroyed.

NURSING CORPS GETS FIRST MALE OFFICER

NEW YORK (UP)—A 25-year-old army private becomes the first male officer in the army nurses' corps today when he receives his commission at first army headquarters on Governors Island.

The private, Edward L. T. Lyon of Kings Park, N.Y., a brawny six-foot, five-inch former lifeguard who is deadly serious about his professional calling, "Somebody's got to be the first," he said.

UNION CITY, Tenn. (AP)—One Cadillac in a garage for a hotel, but two more. It happened to John Hopgood. About this time last year, baseball fans gathered for the drawing for a sleek new Cadillac, a stunt to boost baseball attendance at the class-D Kitty League games here.

Horace Ford, who is blind, drew out a capsule and his little girl, Judy, read the name—John Hopgood, the winner. At Tuesday night's drawing for another new Cadillac, the same Horace Ford pulled out the capsule. The same Judy Ford read the name—the same John Hopgood won.

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—A busy Eddie Chave was awarded a unanimous 10-round decision over Glen Flanagan Wednesday night in their nationally-televised bout before a slim crowd at the Richmond Auditorium.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

WARWICKVILLE—This is the land of the Vees. And don't let anyone forget it—Penticton won't—this is the home of the world amateur hockey champions. The billboard stands out boldly on the face of the mountainside as one approaches the peach centre of the Okanagan:

WELCOME TO PENTICTON

Home of the V's

World Hockey Champs

The biggest sign in the main drag belongs to a restaurant. Two hockey players stand in clear relief above the entrance to:

"Warwick's Commodore Cafe"

And don't ever forget it; this is the home of the world hockey champions.

WALKER

This is the place where "sportsmen meet" and there wasn't one of the 128 pews unoccupied minutes after the dinner gong had clanged its tune.

"The eating and meeting place of Penticton" is the catchline on the match box folder.

Steaks come as high as five bucks for half a steer (New Yorker cut) if you're that way inclined.

And many valley residents must be; for, last year, it is said, the Commodore, and the Warwicks, grossed something close enough to $170,000 that Grant figures:

"Sure, I'll play one more year, 'cause I figure I owe the fans something. They've bought a 1,000 season tickets, haven't they?"

Hosts of this elite of the beany division are Warwicks all—"Grant—Bill—Dick."

Warwicks All-Preserving Posterity

And don't ever forget it; this is the home of the world hockey champions.

Inside the doorway is a ceiling-high sign—"V"—for V's and victory.

Across the top is the banner "CHAMPIONS." In the middle of the "V" is a spinning globe.

Pictures of past Penticton teams, the 1953 western Canadian champions, the 1954 Allan Cup champions, and the 1955 world champions, adorn the walls.

Posted for posterity, we presume, above the cash register, which jingles merrily as a result, is a record of the 1955 world tournament.

Canada's name leads all the rest, and at the bottom is the story simply told that all Canadians anxiously awaited last spring.

Today's result:
Canada 5
Russia 0

Peaches? They Only Come in Baskets

And then there's the Penticton arena. Don't ever forget it; this is the home of the world hockey champions.

Banners stretch across the end wall, historically describing the ascendancy of the club—1953 western Canada champions, 1954 Allan Cup champions, 1955 world champions.

Life-size charcoal sketches of members of the champion ship teams provide the scenic backdrop on the side walls.

The now-famous slogan "Go—V's—Go"—can be seen pencilled in various and sundry parts of the building, about the town, and in the most unusual places.

Metal licence flash, tabs telling the same story are as common as Chevrolets.

For don't ever forget it: This is the home of the V's—world hockey champions.

Peaches? They come at four bits a basket.

Wilson's 50-Year Look To Decide City Squad

The latest step in Wilson Harper's most traveled soccer players on his 50 years of wandering the island, will be at a halfback soccer trails has brought him to Penticton.

The veteran coach-trainer of the Victoria City team in the revised Coast Soccer League, will take the wraps off the 1955-56 edition of Victoria's representative team Saturday afternoon at Athletic Park at 2:30. City will meet Vancouver Pilseners in a benefit game for the league's insurance fund.

Tonight, Harper will look over his 20-man squad for the last time before naming the line-up that will face Pils Saturday.

It is likely that most of the candidates will see action Saturday but in keeping with the team's co-operative policy, the players with the best attendance records at practice sessions will get the starting assignments.

Pete Winters, who used to hold the fort for the last edition of Victoria City, will likely be back in goal and will have two former working mates, Bill Hope and Bill Bamford, at the fullback positions. Veteran Joe Robbins, one of the most traveled soccer players on the island, will be at a halfback spot while other halfback talent includes John Weidon, Harry Carruthers, Ernie Eastlake, Murray Speller, Charlie Mills and Bill Boyd.

Up front, the call will go out to five of the following: Cedric Robb, Ken Hibbert, George Wright, Alex Stewart, Archie Taylor, Bob Marrs, Harry Cossey and Leroy Bond.

It's an occupational hazard, he said, "it happens to a coach every time he drops a couple."

But while he dismissed the rumors, he said he felt the team's performance this year—they've won four and lost seven—entitled him to another year as coach.

"I want to be the coach of this club for one more year, I figure I've earned the right to show the fans and those others, his critics, that I can produce a contending club."

"RUMORS" MACKENZIE Club president Don Mackenzie questioned on the sports page articles, dismissed the reports as "the usual crop of rumors which always follows a couple of losses."

Stukus' status next year has not been discussed at any recent directors' meeting, he said.

"The coaching situation will be reviewed at the end of the year."

"The story did not upset Stukus. It's high time this thing was brought out in the open, he said."

The article said, in contradiction to Mackenzie, Stukus' future with the Lions was under discussion "right now."

Most of those who wish Stukus bounced from the coach position, said the story, advocate elevating him to the position of general manager.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Bill Walsingham Jr. quit as vice-president of St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday as the head of the club conferred with Frank Lane, expected to be named today as the new general manager.

Little Soccer League schedule for Saturday follows:

NINE YEARS AND UNDER Reynolds Wolves vs. Oak Bay Bantams; Hampton Bears vs. Central Tigers; Oak Bay Rams vs. Heywood Lions; Oak Bay Eagles vs. Lansdowne Cougars; Lansdowne Beavers vs. Bullens Cubs.

10 TO 12 YEARS Oak Bay Canucks vs. Reynolds Rangers; Central Flyers vs. Hampton Eskimos; Heywood Raiders vs. Central Senators; Lansdowne Thistles vs. Oak Bay Indians; Bullens Pirates vs. Oak Bay Giants; Hampton United vs. Lansdowne Comets.

First named team is home team.

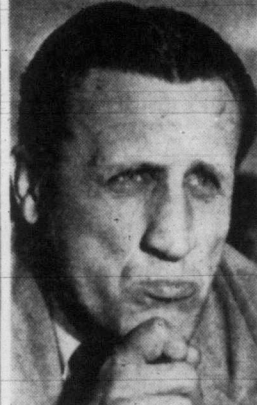

Catch That Killed the Yanks

A scant yard away from tumbling into the left-field stands, Brooklyn Dodger outfielder Sandy Amoros is seen halfway through one of the most important defensive plays in the 1955 World Series with New York Yankees. It was the seventh game, Brooklyn was ahead

2-0 and the Yankees had two runners on base when Yogi Berra drilled a line drive down the left-field line. The fleet Amoros hauled in the liner and threw to the infield to complete a vital double play. (NEA Telephoto.)

ANNIS STUKUS' ... worried? Hmmm!

UNRUFFLED

Occupational Hazard, Says Annis Stukus

VANCOUVER (CP)—B. C. Lions coach Annis Stukus sat quietly at home Wednesday, apparently untroubled about newspaper reports he would be out of a job at the end of the current Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

"It's an occupational hazard," he said, "it happens to a coach every time he drops a couple."

But while he dismissed the rumors, he said he felt the team's performance this year—they've won four and lost seven—entitled him to another year as coach.

Cranky, That's Frank; Cranky Frank, That Is!

By CENTAUR

Cranky Frank, stubbornly refusing to enter the starting gate for the seventh race, and galloping a good half mile in the opposite direction before being brought under control, brought mixed reactions from the punters at Sandown Park Wednesday.

For the comparatively few that bet on the five-year-old, aptly named black gelding, there were moments of anxiety as he cavorted around the track, but for the rest of the 1,500 crowd it was an amusing show.

Jockey Alec Haller, however, soon dispelled any doubts after the race finally got underway. Breaking Cranky Frank on top, he kept him there all the way, and at the end of the mile and 70 yards won, going away by three lengths.

Despite his good showing in previous races, Cranky Frank paid a tidy $15.20 to win, second best price of the day. Dalry, nominated as favorite, probably because jockey Johnny Sivewright hadn't had a winner in the six previous races, closed fast to take second spot by a head. The Quinella combination paid $8.50.

Biggest return for the punters came in the third race, a six furlongs jaunt. Long shots Aspen and Red Crystal came down the stretch in that order, Aspen paying $19.00, $9.30 and $5.50, and Red Crystal $9.10 and $3.70.

Aspen was one of the four horses to continue shaving down the track record for six furlongs, covering the distance in 1:13.4. Miss Colleen, winning the first from wire to wire by eight lengths, and Chic Bird, taking the sixth race, the Colwood Handicap, all the way, both established a temporary new record of 1:13.2. Supreme Leader, winner of the fourth, turned in a time of 1:13.3.

The mark is expected to be lowered again as the Sandown strip continues to get faster.

Other wins went to favorites or near favorites. Miss Colleen, coupled with second place Sunday Painter as favorite, won easily, while favored Supreme Leader won the fourth, Inverness the fifth, and Chic Bird, coupled with Rennerb, as the people's choice, the sixth.

Fern Patch, paying $8.30 in the second, combined with Aspen to give owners Mr. and Mrs. C. Marler a healthy double win for the day. Other double winners were the Montrose Stable, who sent out Miss Colleen and Chic Bird. Fern Patch to Starboard Lite paid a quinnella of $21 in the second.

The mutual handle for the 10th day of the 14-day meet came to $38,879, bringing the total to date to approximately $359,000.

RICHMOND, Calif.—Eddie Chavez, 139 San Jose, Calif., outpointed Glenn Paganan, 129½, St. Paul, Minn., 110, or Manila-Little Oscar, 131, Philippines, stopped Sanong E.T.B., 121, Thailand (2).

Ken Kenneth and Sky Hi Lee renew their violent mat feud in new surroundings tonight in the main event of the weekly professional wrestling show.

Starting tonight, the grunt-and-growlers will give forth at their winter quarters in the Victoria Ballroom.

New Zealand champion Kenneth and Lee will clash in a one-hour, two falls out of three affair. In their last meeting, Kenneth was disqualified for ungentlemanly tactics.

In the special feature of the evening, a pocket-size Australian tag-team match, midgets Tiny Tim Gerard and Tito Infante will tangle with Sky Low Low and Ivan the Terrible.

Special event will have Vancouver wrestler-promoter Cliff Parker vs. rough Jim Saskay of Detroit. First bout starts at 8:30.

Cats Lose in Fun, But Fun Over Now

Royals Play Here Friday In Western League Opener

Vancouver 5, Victoria 3

NANAIMO—Victoria Cougars played their last hockey game for fun Wednesday night. Friday night they start playing for keeps.

Fortunately there was nothing tangible at stake in Wednesday's pre-season exhibition game with Vancouver Canucks at Nanaimo Civic Arena because Cougars blew it 5-3, after building up a two period, 3-0 lead.

But there will be more at stake Friday night when Eddie Olson's young club takes on New Westminster Royals at Memorial Arena at 8:30 in the opening game of their Western Hockey League schedule.

Wednesday's game was Cougars' only loss in three exercise games. Previously, Cougars had tied, 1-1, and beaten, 5-1, the world champion Penticton V's. The youthfully exuberant Cougars built up a 3-0 lead over the Canucks in the first two periods, but the Vancouver squad of coach Pat Egan roared back with five straight goals in the last period to take the decision.

Burly Bill Dobbyn, rookie defenceman assigned to the Cougars by the Boston Bruins, gave Cougars a 1-0 lead in the first period when he drove in a 30-foot shot at 11:48.

Floyd Hillman, beat goalie Pay-Mikulan from close in at 2:57 of the second period and Cougars appeared to be off and flying.

They looked like money in the bank midway through the second frame when a trio of hold-over players combined for Cougars, third goal, Doug Macauley scoring from Wayne Brown and Colin Kilburn.

McKay Spoils Eddie's Experiment Olson, with his last chance to test his available rookie material, shuffled his lines in the last period and it was then the Canucks for victory.

Skip McKay, who has been playing amateur hockey and senior lacrosse in Vancouver, drilled three goals past Marcel Pelletier in 90 seconds of the fateful period while Phil Maloney got the fourth and winning goal. Hugh Currie got the final Canuck tally with Pelletier out of the nets in favor of an extra attacker with three seconds left in the game.

THREE FORWARD UNITS Olson used three forward combinations for the first two periods. The most cohesive unit had Olson working with rugged Skip Teal and Wayne Brown, who appears set for a big year after breaking his leg in the first game of last year's schedule. Other units were made up of Macauley, Doug Anderson and Kilburn and a rookie trio of Reg Belliveau, Don Chupka and Paul Strasser.

Stampedeers Rally To Tie V's CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampedeers of the Western Hockey League were forced to come from behind twice in an exhibition game Wednesday night to gain a 3-3 tie with Penticton V's, world's amateur champions.

Jack MacDonald, Bill Warwick and Jack McIntyre scored for Penticton. Calgary scorers were Steve Wituk with two and Bill Shevitz.

Before a crowd of 3,147 fans, Penticton was backed by the expert netminding of Ivan McLeiland and kept the erratic-playing Stampedeers off stride over most of the distance.

Vs gained a 1-0 lead in the first period and held a 2-0 edge at the end of the second session. Stampedeers rapped in two goals in the first eight minutes of the third period to tie the count but Vs came right back with another to forge ahead again.

Referees are again urgently needed, and anyone wishing to referee or assist in any way is asked to phone league president Harry Youssen at 3-5527.

In order to introduce more variety of play to teams in divisions with a small number of entries, inter-divisional matches have been scheduled this season for sections with less than three teams. Exhibition matches have also been slated with up-Island teams.

Complete schedule for the week-end follows:

SATURDAY 1 p.m.—Division V, Eagles vs. Meanys, Heywood Avenue park. 1 p.m.—Division IV, Combines vs. Eagles, S. J. Willis school. 2:30 p.m.—Division III, Eagles vs. Combines, S. J. Willis school.

SUNDAY 1 p.m.—Division II, Scottish vs. Eagles, Windsor park. 2:30 p.m.—Division I, Royal Canadian Sea Cadets vs. Eagles, Windsor park. 2:30 p.m.—Division I, ANAP vs. Sooke, Lansdowne park.

Bentley Sees Quakers No Worse Than Second

Written For The Canadian Press By CAM MCKENZIE
SASKATOON (CP)—There'll be a strong youth movement in Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League this year and coach Doug Bentley says he has a feeling the club will do no worse than second place in the Prairie division of the nine-team circuit.

WITH ULTIMATE AUTHORITY

Golf Pros Seeking Tournament Manager

CHICAGO (AP)—Once again, pro golf's touring players are seeking a tournament bureau manager, a man who will have "ultimate authority" and operate something like the baseball commissioner.

Applications for the proposed position which would pay $20,000 yearly, plus an "adequate" expense account, will be accepted by the tournament committee of the Professional Golfers' Association of America at Chicago.

Connie Mack Undergoes Surgery

The operation was performed on the 92-year-old former owner and manager of the Philadelphia Athletics baseball team by his surgeon, Dr. Marion I. Gopatz.

Basilio to Defend Title Nov. 30

BOSTON (AP)—Carmen Basilio will make the first defence of his welterweight boxing championship against Boston's Tony De Marco in a 15-round bout Nov. 30 at the Boston Garden, it was learned Wednesday night.

English Soccer Puzzling as Ever

By ARCH MCKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP)—Last year's form book hasn't been much use in the English Football League's first division this season—so far, at least.

With one-fifth of the program completed, evidence is plentiful that some teams play a lot better some years than they do others with the same men.

Také Blackpool, rolling along in front of the 22-team pack in contrast to finishing 19th last year and working hard to get that high.

IN BLACKPOOL'S PLACE
Chelsea, the London defending league champion club, is where Blackpool used to be.

Charlton Athletic, the unfashionable London team from the wrong side of the Thames, is in second place while Arsenal and Tottenham Hotspur are keeping Chelsea company.

West Bromwich Albion in third place is another different team so far. Only Cardiff City is displaying any consistency by sticking in 20th place, close to its favorite position all last year.

There is plenty of time for late runners to come with a rush, but league encounters to date indicate that teams staying with the same lineup can't necessarily count on a thing from one year to the next.

"It's just the way football goes," said Stanley Matthews, Blackpool's sprightly youngster of 40 who is having a good season at outside right. "If you get the breaks you're a winning team."

ONE IN TEN
Centre forward Roy Bentley of luckless Chelsea agrees. Bentley, who with Matthews has been a consistent England player, has just one goal in 10 matches so far this year.

Yet he scored 22 in leading the pensioners to their first league triumph last year, and 21 the previous season. Last summer, he scored all England's goals against France, Spain and Portugal.

Classic example of a team running wild in the right direction was Everton, which dropped into the second division in 1950. With just about the same complement of players, it bounced back the next year and went on to take the league championship and the Football Association Cup the next two years.

ANNUAL QUESTION

Who's Going To Stop Wings, Habs?

By The Canadian Press
Big-time hockey starts another 70-game grind tonight. And it's the same old story—who can stop Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens?

By the time next spring rolls around, the experts figure it will be Detroit and Montreal sitting atop the National Hockey League. Take your pick which one will be in first place.

The revamped, but apparently as strong as ever Red Wings start things off at home against Chicago Black Hawks while at Montreal, Toronto Maple Leafs give their "guts, goals and glamour" theory the test.

New York Rangers open their season on the road Friday night in Chicago and Boston Bruins start their season in Montreal, Saturday night.

BOWLING MEETING

Junior King Pin Club will hold an organizational meeting Saturday afternoon at 1 at Gibson's Bowladrome. All boys and girls from ages 6 to 21 who are interested in bowling are invited to attend.

Pity Poor Pierre! Right City, Wrong Pew

MONTREAL (CP)—Pity the plight of Pierre Mailhot, a red-hot hockey fan.

With Montreal Canadiens opening the National Hockey League season here tonight and playing at home again Saturday, Mailhot decided to follow his beloved team on to Boston for a Sunday game. With his sister and four others, a motoring party was made up.

Mailhot telegraphed to Boston the money for six tickets. But he addressed the telegram to the Boston Arena instead of the Boston Garden.

Back came the tickets by mail. Mailhot's sister was in tears. There was a great to-do.

The tickets, $18 worth, were for a Scottish band performance in the arena.

"I've phoned the Garden, I was told they will hold tickets, I hope everything turns out all right," moaned Mailhot. "I'm sending a money order to the Garden; I hope I get my other $18 back; that's a lot of money for band music."

Brooklyn 'Ball' Ends; Yankees to Tour Japan

NEW YORK (AP)—Nobody threw a ball Wednesday except owner Walter O'Malley, and the "ball" he threw for his Brooklyn Dodgers finally quieted down in the wee small hours.

Happy Dodgers were scattering to the far corners of the land to wait for the mailman to deliver their first winning world series cheques. It will be months before they lose the wren glow of that first hard-fought victory.

New York Yankees, who accepted defeat as calmly as they have greeted 16 series triumphs, also lit out for home to pack their bags for the exhibition tour of Japan, starting Saturday.

Some of the Dodgers were going to jump right into more baseball in the winter leagues or the exhibition circuit. Don Newcombe, the 20-game winner who failed in his only series start, was co-captain with Willy Mays of a group getting ready for an exhibition tour.

AMOROS GOES HOME
Sandy Amoros, the speedy little Cuban who made the game-saving catch on Yogi Berra in Tuesday's finale, was headed for home. He will play with Mike Gonzales' Havana club in the winter league, which opens this season Friday.

Don Zimmer, the Dodgers' part-time second baseman, expected to play with the Sanctuary team in Puerto Rico.

Johnny Podres, pitching star with two "big" victories for the Dodgers, will be home Saturday for a big party at Mineville, N.Y., an adjoining hamlet to Witherbee, the iron mining town in the Adirondacks where he lives.

During their baseball tour to the Far East, the Yankees will play five games in Hawaii, 16 in Japan, two in Okinawa and two in Manila.

All members of the club except Phil Rizzuto, Joe Collins, Tommy Carroll, Rip Coleman and coach Frank Crosetti are making the trip.

HUTCH TO GET CARDINAL POST?

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Fred Hutchinson, manager of the pennant-winning Seattle club in the 1955 Pacific Coast League, will be named the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League, the sports editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer said today.

In a front page story, Royal Brougham said it has been known for some time that Hutchinson is the No. 1 choice of Frank Lane, former general manager of the Chicago White Sox, who is slated to take over as general manager of the Cardinals today.

Bucky Harris Rehired By Tigers

DETROIT (UP)—Bucky Harris today was named manager of the Detroit Tigers for another year, despite uncertainty about the future ownership of the club.

Harris signed a contract to manage the Tigers through 1956 with Spike Briggs, current Tiger president who may not be around when Harris starts his new term as manager.

Plebiscite Sought On Sunday Sport

VANCOUVER (CP)—A group of city businessmen Wednesday formed a committee to support a proposal that a plebiscite on Sunday sport be placed before voters in the December civic election. The committee will consider presenting a brief to a city finance committee meeting Oct. 12 along with other organizations.

Girl Must Break Spell To Lift TV Jackpot

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A hypnotist Wednesday demonstrated how he plans to prevent a 19-year-old coed from collecting $100,000 on a TV show. He gave a convincing performance.

Night club performer Arthur Ellen put young Patricia Morris into what seemed to be a deep hypnotic sleep. Then he made her extend her arms and legs and remain in an awkward position for many minutes.

Pronounced her arm impervious to pain and stuck her repeatedly with a pin.

Suspended her rigid body between two chairs and stood unaided on her knees.

Ellen has been performing such tricks in night clubs for years. But this Friday he'll give what promises to be his greatest performance. He'll appear on NBC's "Truth or Consequences" show and attempt to hypnotize Pat. He said he will do so merely by saying the word "Ena," which he said he has implanted in her subconscious.

Then $100,000 in new bills will be placed on a table before her. He will instruct her not to rise from her chair. If she can get up, take four steps and pick up the moola, it's hers, payable at $5,000 annually for 20 years.

One newsman asked: "Is anybody at the Foreign Office to blame for the Burgess and Maclean affair?"

He replied, with a smile: "That is too easy, you know."

Actor Sonny Tufts Denies Beating Girl

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actor Sonny Tufts has denied charges made in a suit for $10,000 damages that he struck and beat a 22-year-old girl in a restaurant last July 17.

Adrienne Forman, of North Hollywood, charged in the suit that Tufts struck, beat and bruised her at a studio city restaurant. Tufts, in an answer to the complaint, Wednesday denied all charges.

Presbytery Critical of Firm For Sunday Automobile Show

DUNCAN — A Victoria auto firm came under fire here at the Wednesday session of the Victoria and Vancouver Island presbytery of the United Church of Canada for staging an auto show on Sunday.

Also criticized was the Victoria Curling Club for letting the firm, Gladwell Motors, use its rink for the show.

The presbytery committee on evangelism and social services, headed by Rev. F. E. H. James of Metropolitan Church, Victoria, brought the protest to the floor of the meeting.

It was claimed that the show violated the Lord's Day Alliance Act, in that it was a commercial enterprise.

Dr. James reported further that 95 of the 164 presbyteries of Canada had agreed to enter into a campaign for the redemption of all members.

Presbytery members will take part in a one-day retreat for active ministers, a preach-

Pender Island Split On Ferry Proposals

PENDER ISLAND—Supporters of an extended schedule by the ferry Cy Peck to the Gulf Islands would be in the minority, former secretary of the Gulf Island Improvement Bureau, G. J. Dickason, said today.

He said his belief was that the provincial government had been subsidizing island service "long enough" with the Cy Peck, and that the subsidy was unfair to free competition that wanted to move into island service.

Other Pender islanders have expressed dismay over the fact that the thrice-weekly service offered by the Cy Peck to the island might end when its subsidy is withdrawn at the end of November.

A cattle breeder, Jack Amies, said his business was dependent on the ferry, and others claimed the connection with Salt Spring Island had been like a "shot in the arm" for the economy of North and South Pender.

"It has saved me much money in equipment repairs," business transactions, and time," said logging operator Ray Brackett. "We can't do without it."

"We must keep this ferry," said Don Grimmer, dairyman. "I get better prices for my dressed veal in Victoria than Vancouver."

The majority of other Gulf island residents voted recently in favor of a ferry connection with the mainland. Gulf Island Transportation Ltd. is prepared to serve the islands without subsidy.

Firemen Plan Fund Appeal In Sidney

SIDNEY—Volunteer fire department serving Sidney and North Saanich will make its annual appeal for funds during National Fire Prevention Week Oct. 9-16, Cmdr. F. B. Leigh, chairman and secretary-treasurer, said today.

The department is basing its appeal on the fact that a 45 per cent reduction in fire insurance premiums, brought about by the efficiency of the department, should result in "a little more" money being available. "Our funds have been greatly depleted this year by the expenditure necessary to equip our third truck," Cmdr. Leigh said. "This truck has been on the road for some months and is doing good work, but more expenditure is necessary when funds become available."

He said that the Sidney and North Saanich brigade is one of the only two forces in B.C. supported by voluntary donations. Members of the fire committee are J. C. Anderson, R. D. Murray, G. Gray, Fire Chief G. A. Gardner, Deputy Chief Bob Shade and Cmdr. Leigh.

Red Drive on Unions Predicted for B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Communist drive to take over the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council (TLC) and win control of other B.C. labor organizations was predicted here Wednesday by union leaders.

"There's no doubt this activity is all part of a big Communist offensive," said one senior right-wing unionist. "They apparently think they are in better odor while the Communist peace drive is under way. They are trying to infiltrate into the Trades and Labor Council and I'm sure the situation will erupt there soon."

R. K. Gervin, secretary of the VTLC said he felt the offensive could be handled easily.

"The TUC left wing was not a true representation," he said of last week's provincial meeting. Mr. Gervin was not re-elected as secretary of the organization which passed by a 56-54 margin a resolution that expelled groups should be readmitted next spring after the merger of Canada's two labor congresses.

MATILDA'S BABY PERFECTLY FORMED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Matilda has reverted to its former self—No. 5 in the penguin section of Stanley Park zoo. But its egg continues to make news.

Dr. Ian McTaggart-Cowan of the University of B.C. zoology department said Wednesday the zoo came near having the first baby penguin ever hatched in Canada.

Dr. McTaggart-Cowan said he found a perfectly-formed baby penguin in the egg. He estimated it died in the shell three or four days before being taken from Matilda.

Anti-Red Moderate Asked to Lead Greece

ATHENS (Reuters)—King Paul, Wednesday asked Public Works Minister Constantine Karamanlis to form a new government following the death of Greece's strong man prime minister, Field Marshal Alexander Papagos.

The king asked Karamanlis to try to solve the Greek government crisis after the acting prime minister, Stephen Stephanopoulos, presented the present government's resignation. Stephanopoulos was chosen acting prime minister by Papagos only a few hours before he died.

Karamanlis is a handsome 45-year-old lawyer who has successfully steered clear of political squabbles while winning popularity for carrying out reconstruction projects in Athens and fostering land reclamation projects in rural areas.

Such instruction, the council decided, need not necessarily be by accredited English teachers, but by persons willing to devote time to the work.

Officials Probe McEwen's Status

Martin Denies Doctor's Claim On Hospitals

Mayoralty Candidate May Be Disqualified

By PETE LOUDON

Property qualifications of mayoralty candidate Elmer D. McEwen were under debate at City Hall today and it was reliably reported he may have to withdraw from the December election slate.

Civic officials were silent on the subject at press time and Mr. McEwen could not be reached for confirmation.

But it was learned a discussion on the matter took place in the office of assistant city solicitor Angus Smith. Later, it was hinted that a news release of some importance might come from the office of city clerk, M. F. Hunter.

Direct questions to various officials went unanswered but no denials of disqualification possibility were issued.

If Mr. McEwen, who announced his candidacy in July, is required to withdraw, it could mean a definite announcement of candidacy from former alderman Percy Scarran.

He said Monday he would consider running if the mayoralty was a two-way fight with Mayor Claude Harrison. But he added he had given up the idea when Mr. McEwen said he definitely would not withdraw in favor of any other candidate.

The only other candidate who has so far come forward is city second-hand dealer, W. A. Scott, who has run for alderman in previous years only to be soundly defeated at the polls.

CURTIS TO RUN?

A withdrawal action by Mr. McEwen could also mean announcements of decision to run by Alderman Austin I. Curtis, who is being pressed to seek the office.

Archie Willis, a former alderman for 10 years, also reported considering running for the mayor's chair, might also step forward if Mr. McEwen is ruled out.

City businessmen, who have watched Mayor Harrison's success in the last two civic elections, have stated on occasion the mayor is not likely to be defeated if there is a crowded field in opposition to him.

Girls' School May Be Built On Island

Health Minister Eric Martin said today plans for a new provincial girls' detention home may be announced by the end of this month.

He said the committee set up to investigate sites for replacing the Cassiar Street girls' school at Vancouver is in the final stages of its job.

"I sincerely hope we will be able to announce something by the end of the month," said Mr. Martin.

The old building in Vancouver was condemned in a report submitted to the government this spring by a "citizens' committee" appointed by the health minister.

Several Vancouver Island sites are under consideration, at least one of them in the vicinity of Victoria. Another is at Brannan Lake near Nanaimo, where a new boys' industrial school is now in operation.

"We are not going to be rushed on this thing," said Mr. Martin. "It may have to last for generations."

He said the committee has done a "tremendous job" in examining all the factors required to locate a school site.

Army Units To Parade To War Show

Victorians will see regular army and militia units on parade in the downtown area during the next week as they march from Hudson Bay, Co. parking lot to the Odeon Theatre to be guests at showing of "To Hell and Back."

The parades will move off about 7 p.m.

About 100 men and buglers of Queen's Own Rifles will march from the lot to see the war picture Friday night.

Tuesday, 5th Medical Defence Battery, CWAC and 119 Cadet Corps will march to the theatre led by the 5th band.

Next Thursday, 25th Medical Company, 40th Technical Squadron, 156th Service Corps Company and 5th Area Signals Company will be guests at the show. Queen's Own Rifles bugles will lead the parade.

The Canadian Scottish Regiment, preparing for the Royal visit of Princess Mary, will see the show Oct. 17 if it is held over.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Can you please tell me what Rocky Marciano clears from a fight after taxes and his personal aides are paid off, just on gate receipts only?—P.W.T.

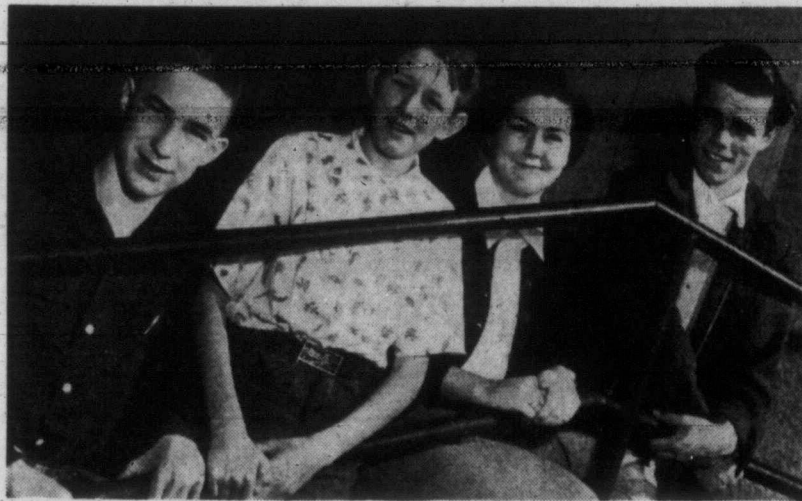

A.—The newspapers stated Sept. 22 last, the day after the title fight that the crowd in New York's Yankee Stadium was about $5,000 and that the total gate receipts were over $300,000. Archie Moore's 20 per cent of the gate, theatre television and other returns was estimated at about $200,000, and the champion's 40 per cent at about $400,000, being the largest sum ever taken out of a fight by Marciano, as was the case also with Moore's earnings. No authoritative statement on the income since collected from each contestant has come to the attention of this column, nor has an estimate of training camp and other incidental expenses of the two men.

Q.—Will you please tell me where Topaz Harbor, B.C., is?—S.W.

A.—The Gazetteer of Canada describes it as "an inlet 'N of Hardwicke I., Rge. 1, Coast Dist. 50 125 SW," which puts it in the southwest corner of the rectangle on the map made by the 50th parallel of north latitude and the 125th meridian of west longitude. Thus it is among the islands southeast of Johnstone Strait and in an easterly direction from Seymour Narrows.

Paid Help for By-Law Said 'Unusual Step'

Hiring of a firm of professional advisers by Cowichan School District 65 to publicize its forthcoming $750,000 school construction by-law roused considerable interest but little comment in the district today.

"It's an unusual step," said Mr. Don C. Morton, of North Cowichan.

"No comment," said Ald. Jack Dobson, acting mayor of Duncan, in the absence of Mayor J. C. Wragg, now attending the UBCM convention in Prince George.

A third resident of the district, who did not wish to be named, said: "I don't see anything particularly wrong with the idea."

Another, who wished to stay out of any controversy because of the often-tempestuous state of affairs in the school board, suggested professional help might be the answer to the board's present problem.

"Trustees are being pressed on one side for an early vote on the by-law; and on the other by criticism that an early vote will not permit sufficient dissemination of information about the by-law," he said.

"This action might give the by-law enough publicity in time to conduct an early vote," he said.

H. L. Campbell, deputy minister of education, said he had had no information regarding the board's decision to hire professional help, but would "look into the matter."

The board's decision was made on the understanding that a referendum earlier this year failed because insufficient information reached the ratepayers.

TIMES MEDICAL COLUMNIST SAID 'MOST WIDELY READ'

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, whose column appears regularly on page 5 in the Victoria Daily Times, has been acclaimed by a magazine writer as the most widely read medical columnist in America.

According to Greer Williams, writing in Harper's, his column "enrages a certain number of doctors, delights others, and fascinates millions of ordinary readers."

"He treats his patients—and his millions of readers—not as so many sets of notations on clinical charts, but as human beings with a rightful curiosity about their aches and infirmities," Mr. Williams wrote.

"This may prove to be a greater contribution to modern medicine than some of his colleagues yet realize."

November Hearing Set In Valley Gas Fight

Public Utilities Commission will meet in Vancouver, probably in November, to hear jurisdictional arguments arising from the battle for natural gas distribution rights in the Fraser Valley.

The special hearing will determine whether West Coast Natural Gas, which proposes to pipe gas to the lower mainland from the Peace River, has the right to undertake to supply any distributing firm without PUC approval.

West Coast already has entered agreements with the B.C. Electric and Inland Natural Gas Co. to supply the needs of the Fraser Valley and the Interior.

At hearings held in the Fraser Valley this summer, a majority of Fraser Valley municipalities opposed the B.C. Electric gas rights bid. They supported Valley Natural Gas, a firm with local backing.

One official said the jurisdictional question may have to be referred to the Court of Appeal.

'CLEAN, SOBER EXISTENCE LEADS TO LONG LIFE'

Former Victorians Married 70 Years Today

BY TONY DICKASON
Both Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jordan appear to be cut diamonds.

They celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary today: 60th and 75th anniversaries are diamond jubilees, so the Jordons, both aged 92, seemingly cut in between, gemwise.

The pleasant pair, staying here the week with nephew George Robinson, 3069 Henderson, now live in New Westminster but have roots in Victoria which go back to 1892.

He worked as powderman and foreman when the Royal Engineers were building the fortifications here. He then worked for the government drydock 14 years.

His wife, Hannah, is actually five months older than her husband. She was born in Peterborough, Ont., and he in London, England. He was brought to Canada as a child and started work as a bricklayer.

"It was at Uxbridge, Ont., that I met the girl of my choice," he recalled today.

They married there October 6, 1885.

They took a "delayed honeymoon" after his work here with the Royal Engineers and toured England, Ireland and Scotland. This was "the best time of our lives."

Charles and Hannah were separated only once, when Mr. Jordan took another trip to England after the First World War. They later moved to Seattle where they spent "25 happy years."

Mr. Jordan writes a firm, legible hand, all the more surprising as he attended "night school, after work, for only three months."

Health problems, of course, are beginning to touch the devoted couple. He was struck on the head by a flying wedge of wood nine years ago while sawing "and I've been out of action since. But before that I could do 12 and 14 hours work a day."

Mrs. Jordan injured her hip badly in a fall five years ago, and is confined mostly to her wheel chair.

Her husband credits "a clean sober existence . . .

I've never been under the influence of liquor . . ." for his long life.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jordan are especially tickled with a wedding anniversary letter of congratulation received a couple of days ago from Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent. And he carries in his pocket, well protected, a telegram of congratulations received two years ago from Queen Elizabeth.

In the eye of life they are satisfied. "None of that effects of accident and age have caught up with us, we are under the care of a good government."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jordan married 70 years today.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Just dashing madly about, getting nowhere:

"The saddest words spoken by women or men: The alarm clock's broken—I'll be late again."

These are lovely crisp mornings. The dual-purpose kind. Nice for getting up and breathing the fresh, fresh air. And nice for snuggling back under the covers and sneaking an extra five minutes.

Through recent force of circumstance, I am attempting to become a do-it-yourselfer on a modest scale. Not doing too badly, either. But in the line of carpentry I have hit a minor snag.

I cannot tell the difference between a two by four and a four by two.

My Favorite Wife, too, is something of a do-it-yourselfer. She is currently hanging curtains, and has her own way of measuring. She scorns a tape measure, and uses bits of string.

This slightly abridged transcript of a portion of her instructions to herself will give you some idea:

"Curtains, bathroom, window, lower. First knot. On same string one inch less than first knot."

"Window, upper. When fittings are in they will measure first knot on string disregarding all other knots. (This was from side to side, not up and down.)"

"Window, upper, up and down. Take first knot disregarding all other knots. (Remember, no hems allowed, either up or down.)"

And don't laugh at the above. The curtains fitted perfectly.

If you are travelling by air to Vancouver, you needn't bother taking your umbrella with you.

The thoughtful citizens of the mainland city, taking a realistic view of matters, have installed a large umbrella stand-full of sturdy broomies at the taxi ramp from incoming planes.

Speaking of airports, some kind soul at Pat Bay could do a favor for one and all by installing a new sign in the pay-phone booth.

Present one says "Local calls 10 cents." What should be added is "Victoria calls 20 cents."

Wonder how many people get caught without the right change handy?

Experiments Can Be Fun—
With Exciting New Foods

By PENNY SAVER

First thing we know, women are going to have absolutely no excuse for not turning out masterpieces every time we make a meal!

You should wander through the food departments with eyes for time and work-saving mixes and preparations. You'd be amazed! Every time I go food shopping, I come across another whiz wonder.

Latest is the packaged ice box pie. Which do you prefer, chocolate or butterscotch fluff? In the package is a graham cracker crust and a chiffon-like filling. Just mix with milk and chill. Presto! There it is. As if this weren't enough, with the package comes a pan, too. The whole works for just 43 cents.

Candy peel (or fruit peel if you prefer to call it that), has taken on a new look. Instead of buying bits and pieces in packages, you can now buy whole peels. In a 12-ounce box you'll find citron, lemon and orange. Selling for just 39 cents. As you need the peel, cut it off in the desired sizes, and there you have it fresh and moist.

The sales girl explained that little round fresh citron balls, that look all the world like tiny watermelons, are wonderful in jams or preserves. The usual method is to cook them with lemon or ginger to give them that lift. You can buy them at two pounds for 15 cents.

In the frozen foods department, you'll find a real rainbow of labels in the fruit juice display. Orange juice, in a large tin, costs $1.06, while smaller tins, in various brands cost two for 41 cents, two for 37, two for 35 and 22 cents each. Grape juice is a very refreshing change, and costs 25 cents tin, while tango cocktail, a mixture of tangerine, orange and other pure juices, look really intriguing. This is 24 cents a tin. Lemon juice is 19 cents, tangerine, 23 cents, limeade, 23 cents, and a mixture of orange and grapefruit, 23 cents. There's a lot of liquid sunshine for you the nice kind.

A delightful thought for breakfast or light lunches is sectioned grapefruit. Tins of frozen sections can be bought in town. Use them in salads, too, they're wonderful. A 12-ounce tin costs 21 cents.

Monday's Thanksgiving, as we all know, and the day for pumpkin pie dessert. If you're not the hardy type and prefer a prepared pumpkin pulp to scooping it out and cooking it yourself, the 28-ounce tins—I saw are for you. It's a solid 35 and 22 cents each. Grape pack, and in the tin is enough juice is a very refreshing for two pies. Yours for 21 cents.

Embarking on her first tour of Canada, the Princess Royal visited Laval University at Quebec, where she received an honorary degree. Here she examines the university charter which was granted by Queen Victoria. Looking on are Archbishop Roy and Remi Bourget, 11, who carried the princess' train.

Princess Royal Receives Honor Degree at McGill

MONTREAL (BUP) — The Princess Royal winds up a four-day visit to Montreal and heads for the rest of a month-long Canadian tour late today after receiving an honorary degree from McGill University.

Officials of the royal-chartered university planned to make the Princess an honorary graduate this afternoon and she was scheduled to leave by train on an overnight trip to Kingston.

The formality of the special McGill convocation was in sharp contrast to her informal look at a performance of the visiting Comedie Francaise at a local theatre last night and brief visit behind the curtain to spend a minute or so with the French actors. The on-stage visit was kept short between acts because stagehands were busily moving props.

The Princess, aunt of Queen Elizabeth II, went even more informal when she first sat to see the show. She didn't know that the seats in the St. Denis Theatre sloped a little sharply forward, and gasped with astonishment when she nearly slipped into the seat in front.

Earlier yesterday, the starch was taken out of the Royal visit when the Princess looked in on 570 children at St. Justine's hospital.

"You can't be formal with children," explained the hospital's medical director, Dr. J. E. Dube.

Vows in Castlegar Church

In a setting of pink and white gladioli in United Church, Castlegar, B.C., Miss Ora Elaine Goresky, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Victor Goresky, Castlegar, exchanged wedding vows with William Byrge Thomassen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Thomassen, 385 Arnot Avenue, Rev. L. C. Johnston officiated at the afternoon ceremony. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. J. E. Wallace, and during signing of the register, Mrs. R. Walde sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

A nylon net over tulle gown was worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. The full skirt featured alternate rows of ruffled net and satin piping and the bodice, made in three folds was trimmed with ruffles of net. Tulle draped at her shoulders, was caught in the back with a rhinestone pin. Sequins and pearls made up the dainty head-dress which held a fingertip veil. Red roses and stephanotis were in her colonial bouquet.

Miss Eileen Goresky was maid of honor for her sister, while Miss Faythe Toogood was bridesmaid. They wore dotted nylon over tulle gowns in pink and blue respectively.

Lively UBCM Debate Over Water Issue

Vernon Loses Fight Against PUC Order Covering Outside Areas

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Vernon's fight against being forced by the Public Utilities Commission to supply water to properties outside its city limits produced the hottest argument of the Union of B.C. Municipalities session Wednesday.

It ran head on into two blockades and had delegates on their feet fighting for and against it, and died on a narrow 85-79 vote after the arguments wound up.

Vernon argued the PUC should not have power to order a municipality to supply water to anyone outside its boundaries. Opponents said if municipalities went outside their boundaries to sell water they should be subject to PUC regulation the same as any other utility.

A committee appointed to investigate a similar resolution a year ago recommended that it be dropped and the committee's decision was endorsed.

Courtenay sided with the Okanagan city, Prince Rupert said it went beyond water lines, because it also had to consider the city-owned phone system's extension beyond city limits.

PETTY ARGUMENTS
Some said the PUC stand would encourage fringe development and others declared the PUC would not force a city into an untenable position and had already demonstrated its attitude.

Nanaimo Mayor George Muir called some of the arguments "petty."

The final decision was based on the need for regulation of services outside the area where the municipality had direct control.

The resolution proposed high land drainage legislation. A demand for public utilities to pay a higher fee in lieu of taxes formed another resolution during the convention's opening day.

Highlight of entertainment was the fish dinner for which Prince Rupert was host following a reception at which Klitmat, Smithers, McBride, Quesnel and Dawson creek were joint hosts.

3 Children Burn to Death In Ontario

PICKERING, Ont. (CP)—Three children died in the burning bedroom of their home near here Wednesday night despite efforts of their mother and an older brother to save them.

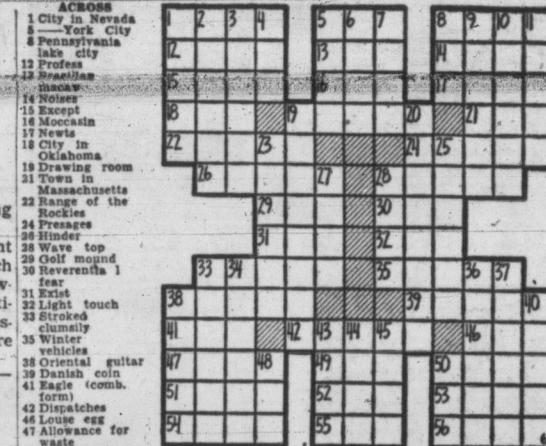

Killed were Eric, 5, Ronald, 7, and Francine, 20 months, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gulliver. They were overcome by smoke from a fire started by defective wiring in a corner of the bedroom ceiling.

Francine died on the floor where she fell after her brother, Joseph, 11, tripped as he tried to carry her to safety. Eric perished in his upper bunk because he was frozen with fear and couldn't get down. Ronald died at the foot of the bedroom window through which he tried to escape.

Mrs. Gulliver and her six children were asleep in the four-room house, Annabella, 13, Ernest, 3, and Joseph were in one bedroom with her and the other three children were in their bedroom.

Mr. Gulliver was at the Rouge Valley Inn, where he works as manager.

Indebted Companies Won Alberta Awards

EDMONTON (CP)—Documents submitted to the royal commission investigating criticisms of Alberta government operations explained in detail Wednesday how contractors were awarded to firms indebted to the provincial treasury branches.

The documents were read by commission counsel J. A. Mahaffy, his assistant William Morrow and A. M. Paul, chief highways construction engineer.

They touched on negotiated and extension contracts awarded to firms among the 11 named as having been indebted to the provincial savings and loan institutions while they held government contracts.

One document introduced said that in addition to the 11, Fred Mannix Co. Ltd. and Mannix-O'Sullivan Co. Ltd., which have done government highway work, had assumed the liabilities of other concerns indebted to the branches.

Much of the testimony dealt with a negotiated contract awarded to the O'Sullivan Construction Co. Ltd., for work in 1948.

S. J. Helman, counsel for government departments involved in the investigation, said Monday this was the only case in which he could find any sign that treasury branch officials had tried to intervene in the handling of a contract.

The term of reference under which the commission is now operating calls for it to "investigate and report upon whether in any instance any preference has been shown in the awarding of highway construction contracts to persons, firms or corporations by reason of their being indebted to a provincial treasury branch, or to persons, firms or corporations by reason of the fact that they assumed responsibility for the liabilities of persons, firms or corporations indebted to a provincial treasury branch."

Submissions made to the commission showed that the O'Sullivan company was in debt to the treasury branches while it held highway construction contracts.

The commission heard testimony on several other cases where contractors indebted to the treasury branches had negotiated highway contracts. None of the evidence indicated any intervention by the treasury branches.

Mr. Helman said that there were many other cases in which contractors with such indebtedness won contracts by being the low bidders.

HAROLD WINCH HITS RADAR DEFENCE PLANS

ALDERGROVE, B.C. (CP)—Expenditure of large amounts for national defence in Canada's northland was criticized here by Harold Winch, CCF MP for Vancouver East.

Mr. Winch said the population of Canada could be better protected by providing more escape routes on the B.C. coast.

Mr. Winch said: "No country, let alone Canada, can continue to spend half of its entire national revenue on civil defence, especially when considerable amounts are being spent for radar warning lines."

He maintained Canada's two radar lines do not protect Canada due to the speed of jet bombers. "Canada is spending large sums to construct and operate these lines which will directly benefit the U.S."

UBCM Urges Bennett To Seek Loan Revival

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — The Union of B.C. Municipalities today telegraphed Premier Bennett attending the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa, to urge revival of self-liquidating loans to municipalities.

Some years ago, the federal government made low-interest loans available to municipalities for revenue producing projects such as water and sewer systems.

It was basically a depression measure, intended to ease unemployment.

Today municipalities want similar loans for two purposes — to provide work at times of low employment, and to obtain lower-cost financing of major municipal projects facing many B.C. communities as result of post-war growth.

The telegram will ask Premier Bennett to present the request to federal authorities.

Later the convention will discuss another proposal for lower cost financing — the creation by the provincial government of a revolving fund from which municipalities could borrow.

It is suggested B.C. follow the Alberta plan which authorizes creation of a fund "up to $100,000,000" from which loans are made to municipalities at rates varying from 2½ to 3½ per cent.

Village of Warfield, near Trail, presenting the resolution, suggested such a provincial fund would be most valuable for small projects which could not be economically financed by ordinary bond issue.

In still another move toward financing municipal projects, the convention asked that they be permitted to transfer idle money from tax sale lands reserve to local improvement accounts. This plan would, in effect, create a small revolving fund within a municipality.

Porter Spends Busy Night

"Ever polish 24 pairs of shoes in a night?" asks Chas. Waterman, Pullman Porter. "Well, I have, but it doesn't take long with KIWI. Yessir, KIWI polish works fast... gives a high, lasting shine in half the time it takes with other polishes."

If you want a gleaming, professional shoe shine all the time, take a tip from a man who knows—use KIWI. The richer more costly waxes in KIWI do more than just polish shoes... they go deep down into the pores of the leather, protect and keep it supple.

HEADS DRIVE — Named general chairman of Christ Church Cathedral's $250,000 combined funds canvass is Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes, VC, MP. The parish canvass — aim of which is to provide cathedral funds for three years and finish the west front towers — will be keynoted by a loyalty dinner Oct. 13, at which more than 1,000 parishioners are expected.

National Guard Ordered Into Strike Area

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UPI) — Hundreds of national guardsmen, backed up by tanks and half tracks, took command of New Castle today with orders to end the bloody violence at the strikebound Perfect Circle Corp. plant.

Gov. George Craig sent the 600 troopers rolling into New Castle before dawn to put down any sequel to the wild gunfight in which nine persons were injured at the plant Wednesday.

Four pickets and four non-strikers were shot and a state police captain was clubbed over the head before state police ended the two-hour battle.

Special for your man—an Eggnog Pie

WOW! HOW?

JEWEL!

Eggnog Pie

If you beat an egg, you can make the filling. If you can roll dough—in fact, even if you've never rolled dough in your life—you can make the pastry. How come? Because with Jewel it's so easy, you just can't go wrong! Jewel has super shortening power that keeps the dough in rich, flaky layers no matter how thin you roll it, makes your piecrust turn out tender, utterly delectable. Try it.

PASTRY
Yields: One 9 inch pastry shell
½ cup QUICK-MIX JEWEL SHORTENING
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 to 4 tablespoons cold water

Sift flour with salt into bowl. With a pastry blender or fork cut in Jewel until mixture looks like coarse corn meal. Only with Jewel can you be sure of getting a really flaky and tender piecrust—the kind men rave about! In test after test, with all kinds of shortenings, it's been shown that Jewel pastry is always flakier and more tender. Now sprinkle cold water lightly over flour mixture. Toss together.

It's QUICK-MIX JEWEL for quick easy baking!

FILLING
1 tablespoon gelatine 1 tablespoon rum extract
¼ cup water 1 tablespoon brandy extract
4 eggs, separated ½ teaspoon nutmeg
4 tablespoons water 4 tablespoons icing sugar
½ cup sugar ½ cup whipping cream
¼ teaspoon salt Nutmeg

Soak gelatine in ¼ cup water. Beat egg yolks and 6 tablespoons of water slightly. Add sugar and salt to the egg yolks. Stir and cook in the top of a double boiler, over boiling water, until the custard coats the back of the spoon (about 7 minutes). Add the softened gelatine. Stir to combine gelatine and egg mixture thoroughly. Add extracts and nutmeg. Set mixture aside to cool. When egg mixture is almost thick, beat egg whites until slightly stiff. Fold icing sugar into egg whites and continue beating until egg whites are stiff. Fold beaten egg whites into egg yolk mixture. Fill baked pie shell with filling. Chill in refrigerator. Beat whipping cream and spread a thin layer over pie just before serving. Sprinkle with nutmeg.

Peron Talks— Expulsion Demanded

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentina today demanded in a note to Paraguay the expulsion of ex-president Juan Peron from that country.

The dispatch of the note was announced by the Argentine foreign minister, Mario Amadeo.

Reports from Asuncion, Paraguay, indicated Peron might be forced to leave the country after giving a press interview, regarded in Asuncion as a breach of the diplomatic right of asylum.

He is reported to have said in the interview that he had not resigned as Argentina's president but had been forcibly deposed, and that the Peronistas would win the next election by a 70-per-cent majority.

Peron, who arrived in Asuncion on Sunday, was considered to have broken the rule forbidding political refugees to indulge in politics. Paraguayan army leaders were said to feel the country's "honor is at stake."

JOHNNY RAY ENGAGED?

He Brings Her Roses But What Does It Mean?

LONDON — Singer Johnnie Ray slipped unnoticed into a hotel here this week carrying a bunch of four dozen roses. The flowers were for slim, dark-haired Sylvia Drew, the London singer Johnnie's friends thought he had decided to marry when he was last on tour in this country. Sylvia was waiting for him in a fourth-floor room. When Johnnie saw her, he caught her in his arms, hugged and kissed her, and murmured: "It's great to see you again, darling."

WORRIED MAN
But earlier in the day, Johnnie had left New York a worried man. "I'm dreading my arrival in London," he said, "because Sylvia will be waiting to meet me, and I don't know what to say to her." Johnnie added: "There are many ifs and buts about our engagement. I am sure we love each other, but life together—well, that's different." And even after last night's meeting with Sylvia in London, Johnnie refused to answer the question: "Are you engaged to Sylvia or not?"

"We need time to talk things over quietly between ourselves," he said. "Sylvia and I are far too sensible to rush into anything without making sure we know our minds. We'll say something when we want to, and not before. After all, we have been parted from each other for months. Now we've got to sort ourselves out and decide on the future."

HIS DECISION
Sylvia, who had refused to meet Johnnie at London Airport in case his fans were annoyed, said: "Johnnie must decide." But earlier she said she believed that Johnnie still cared. "He writes to me as often as he can," she said. "I've had 14 letters from him since he went away four months ago. They are all warm and affectionate."

Johnnie met Sylvia, 22, who lives at Sunside, Wimbledon, when he toured Britain with the Vic Lewis band in May. Sylvia is a singer with the band. They will be appearing in the same stage shows for part of Johnnie's present four-week tour.

SCOTS DRUMMER

He Stands 7 Feet Tall —In His Hat

LONDON (CP) — Alfred Moon stands higher than seven feet with his hat on, and he'll be wearing it in Canada.

Moon, originally from Vankleek Hill, Ont., is drum major of the Scots Guards band on a 2½-month North American tour.

At six feet, four inches, the 25-year-old Canadian is the tallest member of the 100-man band. With his big bearskin hat, he towers over the pipers in their frilly feathered bonnets. They are scheduled to appear in full regalia in Toronto, in Ottawa and in Montreal.

In the U.S., the band will visit 48 places in 62 days. But Moon is looking forward to the brief Canadian part of the trip in the hope he will see his former home for the first time in nine years. He came to Britain with his parents in 1946 and joined the Scots Guards as a "boy soldier."

"I've always been interested in drumming and always wanted to join a Scottish regiment. In the Scots Guards, I've got both." His mother was born in Scotland.

Canuck Logger Must Pay Fare To New Zealand

AUCKLAND, N. Z. (CP) — A court ruled Tuesday that a Canadian lumberjack who was fired because he refused to work with a shovel must refund the fare a logging company paid to bring him from Canada.

A magistrate awarded a judgment against Robert Willis Odishaw of £256, saying that the Canadian had entered into a definite contract with the Kaingaroa Logging Company.

The case was the first court action taken against a group of Canadian lumberjacks dissatisfied with conditions in New Zealand. Many, including Odishaw, had claimed that they were lured to the country under false representations.

Counsel for the company said 16 Canadians brought here under three-year contracts had left their jobs. Only one had repaid his fare. Other suits to recover the fares are pending.

The complaints of the Canadians have been aired in the press of both New Zealand and Canada. But the company claims that 80 per cent of the Canadians settling down are reasonably satisfied with conditions.

Drastic Changes Urged In U.K. Labor Party

LONDON (Reuters) — Sweeping changes in the structure of the Labor party are called for in a special report published today. It charges that Labor lost the election last May through bad organization.

The biting report, drawn up by a committee appointed by the party leadership, is likely to bring bitter recriminations at Labor's week-long annual conference opening Monday.

In a blunt analysis containing 40 recommendations, the report says: "Even a limited improvement in organization would have won us the election, if only by a narrow margin."

The 30,000-word document gives Labor's organization its worst blasting in party history. And a major row is brewing over widespread "leaks" of the critical report, since sections of it have already appeared in newspapers here.

The proposed Labor shakeup, at a cost of an extra £60,000 annually, includes the appointment of top party leaders as a permanent directorate supervising organization.

Sir Anthony Eden's Conservative government boosted its over-all majority in the 630-seat House of Commons from 18 to 59 in the May 26 balloting.

LESS ENTHUSIASM

The report says the party's national agent organizer listed 35 constituencies which were "lost primarily through poor Labor organization."

Except in a few areas, the

Runs Out Of Foes

MILWAUKEE (CP) — The National Boxing Association doesn't bother to list a logical contender for Rocky Marciano's heavyweight crown in its quarterly ratings released today.

"Marciano has punched his way out of good opponents," said Fred Saddy, chairman of the NBA rating committee.

Bob Baker, Nino Valdes and Tommy Jackson are listed as outstanding boxers and Saddy suggested they engage in an elimination tournament, the winner to meet Marciano.

Earl Walls of Toronto, the Canadian heavyweight champion, is given honorable mention along with seven other heavyweights.

$1 Million Da Vinci Purchased for $450

CHICAGO (UP) — The art director of the University of Notre Dame said today a painting purchased for $450 in a New York antique shop has been identified by Europe's "four top experts" as a $1,000,000 Leonardo Da Vinci original.

Dr. Maurice H. Goldblatt said the experts agreed with him that the painting, "Madonna and Child," is the work of Da Vinci, the most brilliant figure of the Italian Renaissance.

He evaluated the painting, an oil on wood measuring 25½ by 20½ inches, at about $1,000,000.

Goldblatt said the work, ascribed to an "unknown artist," was purchased last year by Hans R. Teichert, a Chicago art dealer, who found it while browsing in New York.

Teichert took the painting to Goldblatt, who decided there had been some restoration, but that the rest of the work was a Da Vinci original.

Convinced he was right, Goldblatt took the painting to Europe this summer, where he said all four of the "greatest scholars on the subject" agreed with him.

He identified the authorities as Dr. Giorgio Nicodemi, Milan, Italy, organizer of the "Leonardo Da Vinci Exhibition of 1940" in Milan; Louis Beau, professor at the Sorbonne in Paris; Dr. Thomas M. Judson, former curator at the Vatican art gallery in Rome; and Dr. Max Friedlander of Amsterdam.

Goldblatt said the "Madonna and Child" was in the French royal collection during the reign of four kings, starting with Louis XII, and appeared in a Paris home during the last century.

It was sold about 1880, was exhibited in London in 1894, and has changed hands several times since then, always being identified as the work of lesser artists, he said.

In 1916, the painting was auctioned in New York City for $1,950. In 1926, Goldblatt said, Mrs. Ruth Kellogg Perry of Hingham, Mass., traded it as part payment for a landscape by Maurice Sterne, an American painter.

PRODUCER CONSUMERS TOO, LADIES AGREE

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Association of Consumers, conceding that men "are a wonderful help," agreed Wednesday to allow them to join the organization.

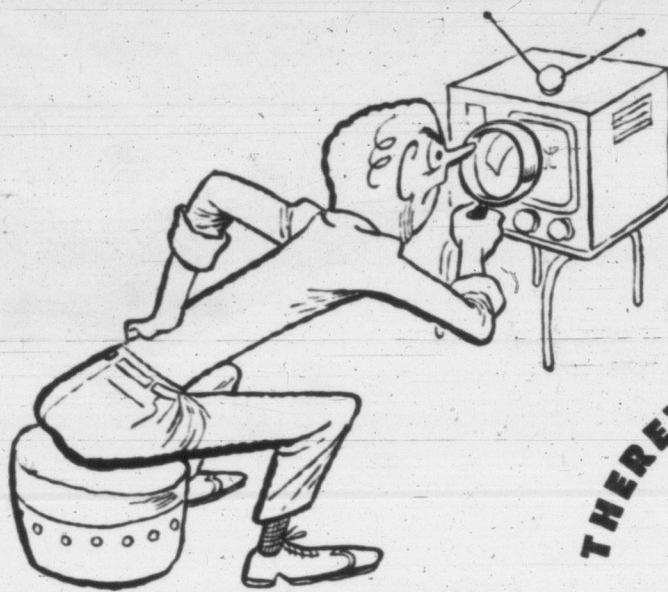

Delegates to the group's annual convention voted to amend the constitution to permit "any person in Canada" to join.

"Shall we be broad-minded and admit the gentlemen?" Mrs. H. E. Vautelet, president of the association, asked in introducing the subject. "After all, men are consumers as well as women."

Commonwealth Parley in Spring

LONDON (UP)—British Commonwealth prime ministers will meet in London next spring to co-ordinate diplomatic and financial strategy, informed sources said today.

The meeting would follow a conference of commonwealth treasury officials in February, and the visit of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to London next March or April, the sources said.

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden discussed and approved the projected ministers' conference during a talk with Australian foreign minister Richard Casey and Canadian foreign minister Lester Pearson last weekend.

The Commonwealth ministers last met in February of this year. There are no regularly scheduled conferences, but Eden has hinted that he wants closer and more direct contacts with commonwealth nations in the future.

Tentative plans are to hold meetings of the Commonwealth prime ministers annually or every 18 months. But it was understood no final agreement has been reached on this point.

No Firm Agreements Made at Tax Talks

Premiers Begin Returning Home To Make Up Minds on PM's Proposals

Special to The Times
OTTAWA — Provincial premiers and their platoon of advisers, will begin returning home tonight to make up their mind on the federal government's taxation suggestions. As the conference began its final formal sitting this afternoon, it was apparent no firm agreements had been reached.

The afternoon sitting was to be confined to preparation of a formal statement on the four-day conference.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said after this morning's meeting that a second conference of federal-provincial financial arrangements may or may not be held before the expiration of the existing tax rental agreements in 1957.

Mr. St. Laurent said the provincial governments are to consider suggestions—"not offers"—put before them by the federal government.

"They were told," he said, "that if they wanted signed agreements, it is up to them. I said that the advantage of a contractual matter is that the contract will be carried out."

"If they prefer to rely on the prospect of a substantial increase in economic activity, they will be taking a calculated risk. Each will have to make his own decision."

The federal government this week suggested an alternative to the tax rental agreements whereby provinces would get back into the direct tax fields with the less-wealthy ones receiving equalization payments from the federal treasury.

SAYS CAN'T ANSWER
Asked whether there had been approval of the federal suggestion, Mr. St. Laurent said: "I can't say there was approval or disapproval."

(Elsewhere, Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario told reporters there had been a "surprising unanimity of acceptance of the principle" of the next tax-sharing formula.)

Mr. St. Laurent told reporters he had made no basic change in the federal government's suggested alternate formula as originally laid before the conference.

It was clear today that the federal government was not accepting proposals, such as that of B.C.'s Premier Bennett, that the provinces should have a larger cut from federal revenue.

U.S. Airliner Hits Mountain 64 Aboard

IKE 'EXCELLENT' BUT-BUBBLEGUM?

DENVER (AP)—A gift package from his grandchildren—heavy on bubble-gum—proved a fine tonic for President Eisenhower on Wednesday.

The president, who put in an "excellent night," had a happy time digging into the package.

This was what the chuckling president found:
From Susan, three, two packs of playing cards and—bubble-gum.

From Barbara Anne, six, stationery and—bubble-gum.
From David, seven, a 25-cent Texas "bugder" story, "The Mackenzie Raid," and—bubble-gum.

The youngsters, children of Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, personally picked out the gifts.

No Survivors Sighted In Wreckage

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)

The badly smashed wreckage of a United Air Lines DC-4 was sighted today on the side of Medicine Bow mountain and apparently all 64 aboard were dead.

The plane crashed into the side of the mountain and fell back down, strewn wreckage over several hundred yards, Capt. Mel Conine, a Wyoming national guard jet pilot who saw it, said.

Conine said there was no sign of life.

The debris is a half-mile north of Lake Marie, about 80 miles west of Cheyenne in southeastern Wyoming.

Medicine Bow peak in the Rockies rises 12,005 feet.

The plane, en route from Denver, Colo., to Salt Lake City, Utah, on a transcontinental New York-San Francisco flight would have flown over the area normally.

The coach-flight left New York's Idlewild airport at 7:10 p.m. Wednesday. Stops at major cities to embark and disembark passengers were scheduled.

Pilot was C. C. Cooke of San Francisco. His crewmates were co-pilot Ralph D. Salisbury, also of San Francisco, and stewardess Patricia Shuttleworth of Salt Lake City.

Names of the passengers have not yet been released by United Air Lines.

Air and ground search for the airliner was launched when it failed to report over Rock Spring, Wyo., a scheduled check-point on the two-hour flight from Denver to Salt Lake City.

Crisis Crumbles French Cabinet

'You Quit Or We Do' Faure Told By Pinay After Gaullists Ousted

PARIS (AP)—Four Independent Republican ministers—including Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay—this afternoon went to see Premier Edgar Faure with the intention of getting Faure to resign or submit their own resignations.

Earlier in the day four ministers from the Social Republican party had submitted their resignations at Faure's request.

In the face of the first defections from the government, Faure went ahead with plans for a debate in the National Assembly on Moroccan problems.

The debate was scheduled to open tonight.

The Independents were reported to have two demands to make to Faure. The first was that the premier should ask for postponement of the debate. If he refused to do this, the ministers were going to suggest that Faure resign.

If this was refused, then the ministers were prepared to submit their own resignations.

In the party of Independent ministers were Pinay; Roger Ducret, minister of reconstruction; Paul Antier, minister of the merchant marine; and Jean Sourbet, minister of agriculture.

SUCCESS DOUBTFUL

Faure apparently felt that he had enough strength to face the debate without the four Gaullists who resigned. It was extremely doubtful, however, whether he could weather another wave of resignations.

A fifth minister from the Gaullist-Social Republican party, Public Works Minister, Edward Corniglion-Molinier, remained in the cabinet. Gen. Pierre Koenig, the defense minister, led the dissidents Faure kicked out.

It is expected that tonight's debate will go on non-stop until Faure wins a vote of confidence or is thrown out.

His chances of surviving as head of the government appear relatively thin, since the withdrawal of the Gaullist votes from his marginal support in the assembly would leave him without a majority.

Besides Koenig, the ministers ousted from the cabinet were Raymond Triboulet, veterans affairs minister; Gaston Palewski, minister with special powers delegated by the premier; and Maurice Bayrou, secretary of state in the ministry for overseas territories.

RETURNED TO TROUBLE
Faure ran smack into a hornet's nest of political troubles on his return during the night from his meeting in Luxembourg with West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer. They had got together to try to save the chances of getting a favorable vote in the Saar Oct. 23 on the proposed "Europeanization" statute.

The cabinet meeting this morning had to sort out the ticklish problem of what to do about replacing Morocco's Sultan Ben Moulay Araf, who was eased out of office to a retirement in Tangier. Before leaving, however, the sultan delegated his powers to a cousin.

The question now is whether the government can go ahead with its plan for a three-man regency council, or whether the sultan has blocked such a move by his delegation of powers.

The de Gaulist ministers who left Faure's cabinet claimed there was no possibility of setting up the three-man council of the throne.

DRUNK IN ADAM-EVE MEWS?

Churchill Kin Howled in Cells

LONDON (Reuters)—Artist John Spencer Churchill, 50, brother-in-law of Sir Anthony Eden, "howled like a dog" in his jail cell and his wife made "meow" noises after they were arrested on drunk and disorderly charges, a court was told today.

They were appearing at a preliminary hearing and their bail was renewed for another hearing Oct. 28. Both pleaded not guilty.

Churchill is the nephew of Sir Winston Churchill. His sister is Clarissa Eden, wife of the prime minister.

The prosecution said the trouble occurred on the night of Sept. 7 in Adam and Eve mews, West London, where the artist and his wife, also an artist, live. Opposite their home is a Congregational church.

The prosecutor said this is what happened:

Churchill charged out of his home into the church hall and complained about "the noise." The church caretaker, described as "a mild little man," swung on Churchill after being called "a little squirt."

A policeman, summoned to the scene, told Churchill and his wife, who had joined him, to go home and be quiet. The policeman said he smelled alcohol on their breath.

Churchill cried out: "Arrest me, arrest me."

He was arrested.

Mrs. Churchill requested: "Arrest me, too."

The policeman obliged.

Police witnesses said Churchill, after being placed behind bars, kept "shouting, singing and howling like a dog." They said his wife made "meow noises-like a cat."
